Miss Connie Du Brey, 26 years old cashier of the Coronado Hotel, held up and robbed of a port-folio containing $3,208.53 cash and $64.10 in checks on Spring ave-
-near Olive street at noon to-day. One of the robbers struck -in the face with his fist as the
-portfolio was snatched from her.

The robbers, two young men, ap-parently had waited for her as she -walked north on Spring from the -hotel to board an eastbound Olive
-car. She passed their Ford
-sedan car in which one man was -driving about 100 feet south of Olive,
-and was just about to turn the cor-ner when the other man stopped before witnesses realized what -was happening, he struck her in -the face and snatched the portfolio

-from her hand. Then he ran to -the machine which turned west into
-alley and sped away.

The money comprised Saturday
-Sunday receipts at the hotel,
-Miss Du Brey was taking to -National City Bank, at Seventh
-and Olive streets. The money is -being insured.

Miss Du Brey faints as the au-tomobile sped away and witnesses
-took her to another machine,
-which took her to her home, at -14 Lindell boulevard, where she
-is in a hysterical condition.

G. D. Quade, a tailor, at 2593

SENTENCED TO FIVE YEARS

Judge Denies Thomas Kehoe Bond Pending an Appeal to Higher Court.

Thomas Kehoe, leader of an in-
-state automobile theft ring, was -sentenced to five years in the Leav-enworth penitentiary by Federal -Judge Farris today.

The court denied bond pending
-appeal, which Kehoe's attorney,
-Thomas Rowe, said would be made
-if he was committed to jail.

An automobile, stolen in July,
-was sold by Kehoe to an
-St. Louis resident. The owner -identified there was a discrepancy
-in the motor number, which -prompted Kehoe's attorney to en-
-demur, alleging the car
-imported was not a complete au-tomobile.

Judge Farris termed the -question artistic and ingenious,
-saying it would nullify the law
-and encourage automobile thieves.

CHRISTMAS THIS YEAR WITHOUT MAIL DELIVERIES
Postmaster-General New to Try Experiment of Giving Carriers and Other Employees a Holiday.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Post-master-General New has decided
-there will be no mail deliveries on -Christmas day. He wants the car-riers and deliverers to enjoy a -Yuletide at home. The procedure,
-the department announced, will be -an experiment and the success or -failure will guide future action.

Two years ago the department -stopped work in city postoffices at -noon Christmas and discontinued
-rural delivery. Last year the clos-ing time was 11 o'clock, permit-ting one street delivery.

These experiments were success-ful and New now hopes the em-ployees can share in a full holiday.

Tango Craze Spreads in England.
By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Dancing is -being done more slowly and lei-surely these days, say dancing ex-perts, partly because of the increas-ing vogue of the tango with its -unhurried and effortless steps. The -tendency in ballrooms is to dance
-a little more slowly, and some -dance bands work on the basis of -48 and 60 bars to the minute.

The tango craze spread from Lon-don to the provinces, whence many -pupils came 100 miles to take a -week's tango lessons from the Lon-don masters.

LEBANON, Mo., Nov. 9.—Arrest
-here last Friday of William Mur-phy, presiding Judge of the Laclede -County Court, on administrative -body, on a charge of accepting a -bribe, grew out of dissatisfaction
-with the administration of county
-affairs by the court.

A bipartisan group of a dozen or -more citizens of Lebanon, the coun-ty seat, and other parts of the -county employed a private detec-tive from St. Louis to pose as a -salesman and lead Judge Murphy
-into a trap.

It is charged Judge Murphy ac-cepted a bribe of $150 in marked
-money from the detective for -agreeing to sell three steel cabinet
-safes belonging to the county for -much less than his opponents be-lieved them to be worth.

Probate Judge Homer Lavenport

-zens' group. The detective was em-ployed through him.

-millions in his family, he robbed
-for the thrill. He is out on bond
-but has decided not to appeal his -viewed those in charge, made a -pleasant survey of the accommoda-tions offered and decided to take

Physician Says He Had

Worried About What

By the Associated Press.

LITTLETON, Colo., Nov. 9.—An -old-fashioned country doctor, Dr.
-Harold E. Blazer, took the stand
-today at the opening of court in -his own defense at his trial where -he is charged with killing his own
-daughter, Hazel, the 34-year-old -"child woman." He took the stand -against the advice of his counsel,
-who have pleaded temporary in-sanity as a defense.

The courtroom was jammed as
-Dr. Blazer walked to the stand -with a firm tread. In a low, but -distinct voice, he answered the per-functory questions of defense coun-sel, H. W. Spangler, relating his -education for the medical profes-sion.

Dr. Blazer's Story.
"Hazel was born at Dillonvale,
-O., in May, 1891," he testified. "At -six weeks she was stricken with -spinal meningitis that left her a -hopeless invalid—without a mind,
-as near as I could tell," he said.

He spoke without visible emotion
-as he described his helpless, im-
-becile daughter.
"She couldn't walk, talk, feed or -help herself. She could roll about -the floor—that was all."

"She couldn't even indicate if -she was in pain. And often I -couldn't discover where it was.
-Then she would go into convulsions
-and become rigid. She had mouth
-and teeth, but I could not success-fully massage her food. It had to -be liquid or else soft, chopped-up
-food."

"Her legs, feet, arms and hands
-were less developed than those of -a 6-year-old child. Her body was -larger, but greatly malformed and
-the spine was twisted almost into
-the shape of the letter S."

"Her chest, bones and ribs pro-
-truded so as to be visible through -the skin."

Witnessed About 90 Pounds.
"She could rattle a piece of pa-per and occasionally would amuse -herself by tearing the paper to -pieces. She did this by rolling on -top of the paper and then pulling
-it with her left hand."

"Although she weighed about 90
-pounds she was as helpless as an -infant of two months."

EUROPEAN PLOT AGAINST U. S. DRY LAW CHARGED

"Pussyfoot" Johnson Declares Foreigners Will Dominate Wet Convention in Washington This Winter.

MAKES REPORT TO ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

Campaign Planned at Dortmund, Germany, He Says and Brewery in Berlin Is Back of It.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—William E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson, international temperance lecturer, gave a European prohibition law is forming. Johnson's charge was given out today by Ernest H. Cherrington, secretary of the Anti-Saloon League, against alcoholism, one of the speakers at the Anti-Saloon League convention in session here.

The report of Pussyfoot Johnson follows:

"The American anti-prohibition demonstration announced for Washington, Jan. 16, will be engineered from Europe and financed for it will be provided chiefly by European distillers and brewers.

"Made desperate by the new American service for the elimination of rum row have made in European bootlegging enterprises, German brewery and distillery interests, flanked by the liquor interests of Belgium, France and Czechoslovakia, are preparing to launch a far-reaching effort to break down and discredit the American prohibition law. This movement is being led by the International Verein Zur Hebung Der Freien Alkohol Erzeugung (The Free Alcohol Erzeugung League) and the American Society for the Liberty to Make Alcohol in Every Country.

"Drive Planned in September.
This drive was launched on Sept. 23, in a general meeting of the society held in the parlors of the Wilsen Schwan Hotel at Dortmund, Germany. The meeting was presided over by Frederic Carnot, a wealthy distiller of Brandy, and there preparations were made to launch an anti-prohibition demonstration in the city of Washington Jan. 16, 1926.

"This Washington gathering will be held ostensibly under the direction of American organizations, but the power to prohibit, but the real movement will be engineered from Europe and the finances will be provided chiefly by European distillers and brewers.

"A finance committee is now at work gathering funds for this purpose. The committee is made up of Wilhelm Rosenkranz, Franz Braum and Wilhelm Klosech of Berlin, but the liquor dealers of all the Central European countries will combine their funds for this great drive into America.

"Berlin Brewery in Scheme.
The leading brewery interests behind the scene are centered around the Schultheiss Brewery, Concern of Berlin. Fritz Schultheiss, director of this concern, and his nephew Otto, have engineered several bootlegging enterprises in America, some of which have come to grief recently.

"Otto has made frequent trips to America recently, but never goes farther than the Atlantic Coast, though his real disposing agents are chiefly in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

"His goods have been mostly landed along the Delaware Bay and thence sent to Minnesota. While he speaks English, German and French fluently, in America he pretends to know nothing of the German language.

"The Dortmund meeting is the fourth general gathering of the International Verein. In opening the meeting, Chairman Carnot launched a protest against the dry laws of America and Iceland.

"He declared that these countries were all the time talking about liberty when they were no liberty. A resolution was passed declaring that it will be a shame if America does not enjoy its freedom in a short time, and all aid was pledged to help in this effort."

RHINELANDER SUIT BEGINS

11 Men Selected for Jury to Hear Annulment.

By the Associated Press.
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 9.—A jury was today selected to hear the annulment suit brought by Leonard Kip Rhinelander against Mrs. Alice Beatrice Jones Rhinelander, on the ground that she misrepresented her race to him prior to their marriage.

After seeing Rhinelander appeared shortly after 2 o'clock the jury immediately was sworn. He walked to his seat without looking toward his bride and went into conference with his lawyers immediately.

Woman Takes Poison After Quarrel
After quarreling with her husband, at 2 p. m. today, Mrs. Little Cherry, 32 years old, of 3219 Hickory street took poison while her husband, Thomas, a laborer, was in an adjoining room of their home. She was taken to City Hospital in a serious condition.

Federal Officials Aid Bootleggers By Allowing Liquor Withdrawals, Pinchot Tells Dry Convention

Charges Laxity by Blair and Haynes, and Declares Law Is Ignored by Cabinet Members and Senators.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania, in an address before the Antisaloon League convention, said that leakage of bootleg alcohol through granting of permits to law-breakers by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue had defeated Pennsylvania's most perplexing problem.

"This is as good a time as any in public what has long been discussed in private—that a defeatist movement, like that which is moving in the great war, is under full headway in the United States," Pinchot said in his speech last night.

"I warn you that before the winter is over you will hear loud claims that since the strongest possible Federal effort to enforce the law has been made (which is false), and since the alleged effort has failed (which is obvious), the time has come for law and order to yield to the criminal, to repeal the law of which the criminal does not approve, and to replace it by another with which we may hope the underworld will be kind enough to comply. If that proposition is not treason I have no name by which to call it.

"We are living in an era of disrespect for law. We are, by the showing of cold figures, one of the most, if not the most, lawless civilized nation on earth. That is one reason why law enforcement is an issue that no citizen who loves his country can afford to disregard.

"There is a wave of lawlessness all over America. Murder, banditry and violence of every sort in our great cities are the despair of good citizens and the shame of the police. In Philadelphia alone, a notable reduction of these crimes has been accomplished—and that only because of the indomitable courage and unmatched ability of one man, the outstanding law enforcement officer in the United States, Gen. Smedley D. Butler. Elsewhere the successful boldness of the outlaw is the despair of the police.

"However, what is true of crimes of violence is also true of other crimes. The Nation is in the grip of contempt and defiance of the law. What is the reason? The reason is not far to seek.

"Following the passage of the eighteenth amendment crime fell off, poverty diminished and the benefits of prohibition were made perfectly plain. Then came a change—a change due solely to the fact that the people who wanted to break the law had discovered that the law-enforcement officials had no intention of enforcing it.

"Law-Breaking by Officials.
"Among all the cities of America, Washington, where laws are made, became the conspicuous leader in disrespect for the law and the Constitution of the United States. Cabinet officers, Judges, Senators, Representatives in Congress publicly, notoriously and, as a matter of course, broke the fundamental law of their country. Is it any wonder that when these men set the example of disrespect for law the criminal classes should follow them?

"Leaders Responsible.
"When every allowance has been made for every other cause, the fact remains that the principal responsibility for the crime wave which afflicts this nation rests squarely on the leaders in public and private life who were not good enough Americans to obey the Constitution of their country, but broke the law at the dictation of their appetite instead. These men are responsible.

"It is our duty to set right what these men have set wrong, and the first item in that duty is to compel an honest, fearless and determined effort to enforce the eighteenth amendment, which is the bloody angle in the attack of crime against law and order and common decency throughout our country. Until we do that there will be no relief.

"I warn you that before the winter is over you will hear loud claims (if you have not heard them already) that since the strongest possible Federal effort to enforce the law has been made (which is false), and since the alleged effort has failed (which is obvious), the time has come for law and order to yield to the criminal, to repeal the law of which the criminal does not approve, and to replace it by another with which we may hope the underworld will be kind enough to comply.

"After describing the efforts of Pennsylvania authorities to enforce the State dry law, the Governor continued:

"And we are winning out. For example, there are in Pennsylvania 64 non-permit breweries and 28 not one is today making strong beer. There is not a gallon of high-power beer being manufactured in a Pennsylvania brewery today except under the protection of a Federal permit. Where such a permit exists the State authorities are helpless.

Conditions in Cities.
"With one exception, in the great cities of the State the raids conducted by the Pennsylvania State Police, and the pressure exerted upon other law enforcing authorities to do their duty, have resulted in greatly reducing the number of open saloons. In a recent check-up in Philadelphia of 59 saloons that were in operation two years ago, 26, or nearly one-half, were found to be closed up and gone.

"Pittsburg, whose good citizens have appealed to him over and over again to put an end to open and notorious violations of the law, is the one exception. It is so because the controlling political forces in that city have succeeded in nullifying every effort of the State administration to reduce bootlegging and make the town dry."

Blames Blair and Haynes.
Pinchot cited numerous instances where he contended Prohibition Commissioner Haynes and Commissioner of Internal Revenue Blair have given permits for withdrawal of alcohol to concerns which "obviously were diverting the alcohol for bootlegging purposes."

"To sum up the helpless inefficiency of the prohibition unit in its dealings with these fraudulent withdrawals of 61 permits in the Philadelphia district, each authorized to withdraw over 1000 gallons of specially denatured alcohol each month, some as much as 15,000 gallons monthly, and altogether to withdraw 2,671,000 gallons a year, 53 were cited from one to three times for violations of law during the last 26 months—but of the 61 only 15 have as yet been put out of business."

"Our country is not helpless before a band of criminals, as some would have us believe," said Pinchot. "This nation is able to enforce its laws whenever the law enforcement powers determine that it shall be done. But until the law is enforced and the Constitution is respected, there is no other issue that can compare in importance with the issue between the criminal (assisted by the men who give him aid and comfort) on the one side, and the Constitution and the law-abiding people of America on the other."

Bad Politics Protects Criminals.
"The thing that has protected the liquor criminal from the law is politics. Politics first, law enforcement second, has been the order. Bad whisky, with beer to help, has supplied the sinews of war for bad politics, and politics has returned the favor.

"I submit to you new facts of current date to prove that what is true. These facts are taken directly from the reports of the Federal prohibition agents.

"Not a drop of alcohol or of intoxicating liquor can be legally manufactured, stored, transported or sold without a Federal permit. The Federal permit is, therefore, the first line of defense against violators of the law. It is wholly under the control of the Government of the United States.

"To quote Commissioner Haynes himself, under the law the Federal Government has the responsibility for the conduct of the permit system."

Misuse of Permits.
"The Federal permit has not been used as it should have been used to keep known lawbreakers out of the business of breaking the law. The facts in their possession sufficient to arouse suspicions of a lamb, Federal officials have been granting permits for the making and the selling of alcohol to companies offered by known violators of the law—and have received in return for these permits a monthly withdrawal of 35,000 gallons of denatured alcohol, which has been indicted for their law-breaking."

This case is given added point when we remember that it is through the camouflage of denatured alcohol that the huge streams of poison drink flow into bootleg channels. In the United States the production of denatured alcohol increased from 29,000,000 wine gallons in 1920 to 82,000,000 wine gallons in 1925. Of this huge increase, 35,000,000 gallons were alleged to be used in making those kinds of denatured alcohol from which the denaturants are easily removed. I say "alleged" because no one knows how much of it was ever actually denatured.

"Last winter, in a special message to the Legislature urging the passage of a bill which would have stopped this poison alcohol traffic in the city of Philadelphia, I showed that, in enough denatured alcohol was alleged to be used and sold in tobacco sprays to meet every possible legitimate requirement in the gas an area the size of the District of Columbia?" Reid asked.

Col. Sherman Moreland, the prosecutor objected, but the defense was sustained by the Court for the first time since the trial began.
Gen. Fries answered that the statements made by Brigadier-General Hugh Drum, assistant chief of the general staff, before the House Avers Committee, were inaccurate. Gen. Drum said 3,400,000 pounds of gas would be required to effectively gas such an area, but Gen. Fries said a lesser quantity would serve the purpose.

The court's decision sustaining the defense was taken by defense counsel to indicate that the vast amount of evidence he has collected bearing on the gas attack service controversy would be admitted as evidence. Col. Mitchell smiled broadly.

Gen. Fries said neither he nor anyone else in the chemical warfare service had been consulted by Gen. Drum when the latter made his statement before the congressional committee.

"How many tons of gas would be required to gas an area the size of the District of Columbia?" "Twenty tons of tear gas. That would be several times the necessary amount."

Reid opened the case for the defense today by submitting a 22,000-word statement which he said was intended as partial proof that what Col. Mitchell said about aviation policies was true, and that it was "strong and stupid to censor and condemn what is commendable—the utterance of truth."

"I conceive it is my duty, in the interests of justice and in the proper conduct of the defense of the accused," he said, "to produce direct and positive evidence which will not only convince Col. Mitchell's accusers of their error, but remove much ignorance by a revelation of the truth."

Among other things, the attorney said, the defense would prove that the Shenandoah, at the time she was lost, "was not a modern aircraft in the air," that her safety factor had been reduced by use of helium instead of hydrogen, by removal of some of her gas valves and one of her engines, by deterioration of the gas cell skins "due to lack of proper care" and in other ways; that the dirigible's Midwest flight "was not necessary," but was a "publicity stunt" having nothing to do with naval operations of the type promised by the department; "that the air service news is changed, altered and suppressed;" "that a press report has been sent out by the War Department during the progress of this trial, regarding its conduct and in an endeavor to influence public opinion, and perhaps this court."

The defense statement criticized in detail other aspects of war and navy Department administration. It declared that during the attempted Hawaiian flight the station ships were too far inadequate and that the PN-9 No. 1 had inadequate radio apparatus.

The War Department, the statement said, "has been guilty of almost reasonable administration in not forestalling the attempt of a foreign flight organization to secure a foothold in Central America."

CARLETON FAILURE TO GO TO GRAND JURY TOMORROW

Circuit Attorney Calls Body to Investigate $3,300,000 Crash of Ferguson-McKinney Mfg. Co.

The grand jury will begin at 10 a. m. tomorrow its investigation into the $3,300,000 failure of the Ferguson-McKinney Manufacturing Co., in which the Bankers Creditors' Committee has declared a large part of the loss to be due to criminal misrepresentation of assets, directed by Murray Carleton.

The unusual urgency of the investigation, in the view of Circuit Attorney Siderer, is indicated by the time for convening. Ordinarily the grand jury meets only in the afternoon, to give its members the morning for matters of private business.

The Circuit Attorney said today that a number of witnesses would be on hand for the opening of the inquiry. He has directed his efforts, in the last few days, first toward getting the statements of employees of the Ferguson-McKinney and Carleton concerns. They are the same who have given information to the bankers' committee.

The Chief Witnesses.
Alfred P. Baggett, secretary of Ferguson-McKinney, who was in daily consultation with Murray Carleton for a time after Carleton was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, is expected to be one of the first witnesses heard.

An equally important witness will be Joseph Malack, cashier of Ferguson-McKinney, who kept a personal record, for his own protection, of the disposition of funds passing between the company and the Carleton Dry Goods Co., across Washington avenue.

The bankers' committee has figured the sum transferred back and forth between the two concerns within a few months, for the purpose of boosting the credit of Ferguson-McKinney, at $1,251,000.

Bonuses Subject of Inquiry.
Bonuses, equal in amount to their annual salaries, received by both Baggett and Malack, are likely to figure in the grand jury inquiry.

A third witness of importance is Robert N. Stubbs, assistant secretary of the Carleton Dry Goods Co. Employees who testify will obtain immunity for any illegal acts they may have committed, it is believed, though no formal announcement to that effect is likely. But it is apparent that neither Carleton, who is dangerously ill at St. Luke's, nor Ferguson, will be questioned by the Circuit Attorney or the grand jury.

The making or use of false statements to obtain credit, or extension of existing credit, is a felony under Missouri law, and the punishment in case of conviction is imprisonment up to five years, or a fine up to $1000, or both.

Federal Inquiry Under Way.
No result of the Federal investigation into the matter, proceeding simultaneously with the Circuit Attorney's inquiry, has been announced. The Federal Government must get evidence that the mails were used in issuing or circulating the false statements, before the matter can be taken to the Federal grand jury. Postoffice inspectors are now at work on this phase of the matter.

TRIAL BY MILITARY IN ITALIAN CONSPIRACY

Young Woman Friend of Accused Former Deputy Arrested in Case.

(Copyright, 1925.)
ROME, Nov. 9.—Former Deputy Zamboni, accused of conspiring to assassinate Premier Mussolini, will be tried in a military court charged by high military authorities with plotting against the prime minister of the war minister's newspaper, Avanti! del Calce, the military code provides a sentence of 15 to 20 years imprisonment for a fortress for this offense. Zamboni, Deputy Gonzales will defend Zamboni. So far the case has been handled by the state prosecutor only.

A sensation in the case was the arrest of a lovely young woman, Lucia Pauluzzi, presumed to be Zamboni's mistress. She is the owner of a small restaurant near the Uffizi and is accused of purchasing an Austrian gun found in Zamboni's room when he was arrested.

Several men were arrested in the case, including the former deputy, Deputy Capocchi, and the arrests of several prominent members of the Aventine opposition, whose names are withheld, are foretold in Fascist circles.

British Ambassador Seeing St. Louis Today — Will Speak at the Coronado Hotel Tonight.

Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador to the United States, is seeing St. Louis today in the course of a round of receptions which began with a morning call at the Washington University.

It is Sir Esme's second visit to St. Louis. The first was a stop of a day or two in 1925, when as a young man, in private life for the time being, he was returning from a tour of duty in Mexico.

Several men were arrested in the case, including the former deputy, Deputy Capocchi, and the arrests of several prominent members of the Aventine opposition, whose names are withheld, are foretold in Fascist circles.

British Ambassador and Aid

Sir Esme Howard (right), British Ambassador to Washington, will speak tonight at the Coronado Hotel. With him is John Balfour, who is second secretary of the embassy.

tioned by Sir Esme as showing the tax burden of the British. Surtees take the rate up nearly 50 per cent in the higher brackets, he added.

Without commenting upon American prohibition, Sir Esme expressed his belief that the British high license and early closing policy was reducing drunkenness.

"There is not much agitation for national prohibition," he said, "though we have, as we have long had, our teetotal folk who advocate an enabling act, to introduce the local option system."

CHARGE AGAINST GUS NATIONS FOR FRAUD QUASHED

U. S. Judge Sustains Defense Motion in the Federal Home Building Corporation Case.

Federal Judge Davis today sustained a defense motion to quash the indictment charging Gus O. Nations, former chief federal prohibition agent here, and five other officers and directors of the Federal Home Building Corporation, with use of the mails to defraud, obtaining money under false pretenses and conspiracy in the operation of the corporation.

However, Government witnesses against the defendants were called at once to go before the Federal grand jury again, by Assistant District Attorney Stettin, who will seek a new indictment.

Other defendants under the quashed indictment were Christian W. Beck, president of the corporation, which was thrown into receivership two years ago by a conspiracy involving Edward J. Barker, general manager; John H. Beck, a director and brother of the president; Eugene H. Paulus, a director; and David Beckett, a director. Nations was a director.

It was the contention of defense counsel that the indictment was vague and indefinite, so that the defendants could not properly prepare to meet charges against them.

The first nine counts of the indictment charged conspiracy to defraud and obtaining money under false pretenses. The defendants attacked this joining of charges as duplicity, making a proper defense impossible.

The tenth count charged conspiracy to defraud and obtaining money under false pretenses. The defendants attacked this joining of charges as duplicity, making a proper defense impossible.

PERJURY CHARGE AGAINST WITNESS FOR EX-"DRAGON"

Ralph Rigdon, on Stand, Volunteers to Meet Accuser on Street Later and He Accepts.

By the Associated Press.
NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Nov. 9.—A charge of perjury which nearly precipitated a fight and an insight into D. C. Stephenson's activities during the last primary campaign and at the 1925 session of the Indiana Legislature, marked the murder trial here today of the former Ku Klux Klan "grand dragon." He, with Earl Klenck and Earl Gentry, is charged with being responsible for the death of Miss Madge Oberholzer of Indianapolis.

A charge of "plain perjury" was made by Ralph Kane of State counsel, after Ralph Rigdon of Foundation, Ind., had testified to having seen Miss Oberholzer alone in Stephenson's hotel room and having had a drink with her. The witness offered to meet Kane "on the street later," and the attorney agreed. Judge Sparks ended an exchange of personalities.

Rigdon said he had worked with Stephenson during the Indiana primary campaign in 1924. He said most of the men Stephenson supported were elected.

Employees of the Indianapolis union station, at which Miss Oberholzer is alleged to have been on a train and attacked en route to Hammond, Ind., were defense witnesses. They testified they saw nothing unusual the night of March 15 when the abduction is alleged to have occurred.

Miss Oberholzer took poison following the alleged mistreatment and died 29 days later.

Raymond Donahue, Indianapolis real estate salesman, said he rented offices from Stephenson. He said he had met Miss Oberholzer in Stephenson's office several times.

On cross-examination he said he was under contract to Stephenson while engaged in Ku Klux Klan work as an organizer. Donahue said he had been in Stephenson's Irvington hotel and garage. He could not say whether there was an upstairs to the garage.

"Ever been at any of his parties out there?" Prosecutor Remy asked. "No sir," was the reply.

During the last session of the Legislature the witness said he had seen Senator Delbert Blackburn of Rushville County; Rigdon, who testified earlier in the day; Russell Duncan of Indianapolis, chairman of the public morals committee in the Indiana House of Representatives, and several women in Stephenson's office. Miss Oberholzer was a frequent visitor, he insisted.

Donahue said he had lived in Washington, D. C., Ohio, and Minnesota. He was a Ku Klux Klan organizer in the District of Columbia and the two states, he testified.

"Do you recall looking the doors of the house?" "No, I recall seeing some of my friends there after this thing happened but I couldn't say when."

Mind "Almost Blank." The accused man said his mind was almost completely blank from the time his son-in-law left the house on the day of the crime until several days later.

"I have no recollection of writing two notes addressed to my daughter," he declared. The notes were introduced by the State in an effort to prove a motive. One said he had decided "not to leave Hazel behind" and the other directed the disposition of the bodies and his property.

"I never had any opiates in my possession for a year previous to Hazel's death," he said.

The State had attempted to prove by allusions that Blazer's stupor was feigned and probably caused by the use of opiates or chloroform.

The witness said he was a member of the Presbyterian Church and that Hazel was baptized in that church.

"Do you believe in the immortality of the soul?" Blazer was asked. "Yes, sir," he replied.

"Do you believe in the ten commandments and the commandment 'Thou shalt not kill'?" "Yes, sir," he declared with emphasis.

"Did you kill your daughter, Hazel, to your own knowledge?" Attorney Spangler asked. "No, sir," Blazer said.

Blazer said he knew his blood pressure was high and it might result fatally at any time.

"The condition of my arteries is getting worse steadily," he said, "and I knew I might have a stroke of apoplexy at any time."

"I put $2500 in an invention for an oil field device. There was about all the money I had. The loss of my money in the invention and the loss of my wife worried me. I thought of what might become of Hazel if I was taken suddenly."

"Were you insane on the twenty-fourth of February?" Prosecutor Stone asked in cross-examination. "I don't know," was the reply.

"What is the last thing you remember on that day?" "I don't know."

"Do you remember anything at all on that day?" "Well, I helped with the washing."

"Do you remember of telling doctors and the Englewood Hospital that you fed Hazel that day?" "I don't remember—I may have."

Blazer denied having read books on insanity since he was charged with the crime.

MOVING PICTURES OF SUN SHOW IT IS GIANT REFLECTOR

Films Taken by American in Paris Interest French Astronomers.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

P. PARIS, Nov. 9.—From the top of a Paris apartment house moving pictures have been taken of the sun with an ordinary motion picture camera, showing the sun is a gigantic reflector which mirrors passing planets and projects their images. French astronomers have shown great interest in the pictures taken by Richard Kleign, an American photographic ray experimenter.

Kleign registered a reflection of the moon against the dark envelope of the sun, showing on the surface of the sun a picture like a Chinese dragon which is on the moon. The dragon seems to be flying through a sea of flame.

Recalling the ancient Chinese belief that a fiery dragon was chasing the sun, some wonder if the Chinese were able to see this phenomenon thousands of years ago. Movies of the moon taken by Kleign show the same dragon.

Auto Hits Truck; Four Injured.

CARBONDALE, Ill., Nov. 9.—Four persons were injured, two dangerously, when an automobile in which they were riding, crashed into a truck near here on the state road last night. Miss Bernice Jordan, 19 years old, of Salem and Miss Hattie Thaxen of Benton, students at the Teachers' College here, were among the injured. Otis Hoffman, 23, son of a Carbonada business man, was taken to Branes Hospital, St. Louis, where it was feared he might lose an eye. Joe Howell, 24, was the other injured.

One of Briggs' former pupils testified today that he had "figured" at Tufts College, Boston, in two subjects of which he is now professor at P. and S. College.

He gave his name as Lawrence Murphy, 3654 Delmar boulevard and characterized himself as professor of bacteriology, histology and pathology at P. and S. His first two years in medical school were spent at Tufts, he testified.

In his second year there, he said, he not only failed in pathology and bacteriology, which he now teaches, but also in neuro-pathology. He added that he had quit Tufts at the close of the second year "by request of the faculty" but testified he was never able to learn the reason for his dismissal.

From there he went to Middlesex College of Medicine and Surgery in Cambridge, leaving there at the close of his junior year because conditions there were irregular, as he put it. He finished his senior year at P. and S. last spring and became a member of the faculty in September.

Student Witness. Joseph D. Sinton, a student at the school, was the first witness today. He related a conversation with Joseph R. Sinton, then secretary of the school, at the time much publicity was directed against the institution in 1923.

Sinton said he told Sintel of a report that the authorities were going to raid the school and were his records. He quoted Sintel as responding, "My God, if they do, they'll hang me." Thereupon, the witness said, he and Sintel carried several books containing school records to Sintel's automobile and Sintel took them away.

Once said Sinton, who entered the school in 1923 but dropped out for a time in 1924, Sintel offered to get him a medical diploma and a license to practice medicine in Missouri for $1500.

Kansas City Doctor Invents New Truss

New Discovery Heals Rup- ture Without an Operation

A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative effects in all rupture cases, is the latest accomplishment of the well-known Hernia Specialist, Dr. Andrew Kaiser, 149-H Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and heals a rupture. It weighs only a few ounces. Has no hard gouging pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no cruel steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Kaiser's ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of the Post-Dispatch who writes him. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good, without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

COMMUNITY FUND APPEAL BY PASTORS

Six Agencies Supported by Contributions for Helping Persons in Need.

Support of the Community Fund, in its annual appeal for contributions, was urged upon St. Louis church members in sermons of several ministers yesterday. Dr. John W. MacIvor of the Second Presbyterian Church said: "If the Community Fund is successful, it will be so not because of any commercial challenge, but through the passion of religion. It is a terrible thing to forget the poor. We all need to be brought out of our comfortable environment, into personal contact with those in need." The Rev. C. E. Lemmon of Hamilton Avenue Christian Church, warned his hearers against the heartlessness which is a besetting sin of city life. "We are too busy and too numerous to stop awhile for the few that die," he said. "What if they do die? There are plenty more. Let one man pass on—there are a million others. And so we are calloused and hardened of heart. We are cruel and ruthless in our business practices and in our careless attitude toward our fellowmen. All because, in the mass of men, we forget the God-given precept of the value of each individual."

Fund Supports Six Agencies. Families in distress in St. Louis and St. Louis County need not fear that their needs will not be met. Dan K. Catlin, general chairman of the Community Fund, said today. Six agencies supported by the fund are for the express purpose of helping families and individuals in need. "Only one question is considered," said Catlin, "and that is the genuineness of the need. No distinction is made either as to race or creed. If a family really needs help, one of our agencies tries to supply it in the most effective manner."

"The fundamental principle of service in each of these organizations is based on knowledge that the staff workers secure about the needy families. Not only is the immediate need for clothing, food, shelter met, but every effort is made to influence the lives of these unfortunates so that there will be no further need for help." Material relief on the part of these six agencies, according to Catlin, is the least of the contributions made to families in distress. Personal service by trained workers of the organization, he said, mold the lives of their clients in a lasting way.

Work of Provident Association. The St. Louis Provident Association is one of the pioneer organizations in this community doing family social service work. Last month through its 10 district officers scattered around various parts of the city, 1064 families were given relief and service of a constructive nature.

Two chapters of the American Red Cross, the St. Louis and Webster Groves Chapters, give the same kind of service to veterans and their families. Last year the St. Louis chapter assisted 12,752 veterans and their families. The County Welfare Association with the exception of the Webster Groves Red Cross is the only county-wide organization to look after the needy, helpless, hopeless, unfortunate and disadvantaged people of the county.

9000 Visits by Salvation Army. The Salvation Army's Relief Department made 9084 visits to families during the first eight months of this year. Nearly 3000 individuals were given service. Transient men drifting in and out of St. Louis have their wants cared for at the Central Bureau for Transient Men, 110 South Twelfth street.

Since the bureau was opened by the Community Council six months ago, nearly 2000 men from all parts of the country have been given service or material relief. The bureau combines into one agency the service that several agencies were forced to do in the past in connection with the regular work.

EVANGELIST, BEGINNING FINAL WEEK, PREACHES ON ZACHIEUS Howard S. Williams, delivering his fifth Sunday night evangelistic appeal here last night, chose Zachieus as the subject of his sermon, declaring "he was a little runt like me." And because he was such a little runt he climbed a sycamore tree when he felt that he wanted to see Christ," Williams said. "And just like me and most of the other little runts, people made fun of him, but Christ came and told him to come down and receive him joyfully. Zachieus was met by scorn and ridicule when he sought Christ. If you are afraid of it don't come down these alleys. A soul never was born into the kingdom of God that didn't have to face the ridicule of the crowd going to hell." This will be his final week in St. Louis. Williams has announced. Twenty-five persons "hit the trail" following the sermon on Zachieus. The same sermon, delivered before prisoners at the Eadsville, Ky., penitentiary recently resulted in 42 conversions, according to Williams. Elks to Honor Grand Exalted Ruler The grand exalted ruler of the Elks, William H. Atwell; Mrs. Atwell and members of his official staff, will be guests at the Elks' Club, 3419 Lindell boulevard, at a dinner in their honor, Thursday night. Atwell is a leading member of the Texas bar. The party will come to St. Louis from Dallas.

TOY TAKES

GRAT excitement in the toy workshop! Jack,
the very best clown, fell from the elephant's back and broke himself into a dozen pieces. His arms were in one place, his legs in another, and his smiling face lay on a broken old accordion, along with a piece of rusty wire.

That night when the Gnomes cleaned up the workshop, they picked up the wire, the broken accordion and the face, which had never ceased to smile, and threw them into an unused box. "This goes in the rubbish barrel tomorrow," they said, as they left for the night. "To think that I must end my days in a rubbish barrel," sighed the wire as he twisted himself into a ball and rolled inside the accordion, and the accordion groaned dismally, but Jack said nothing, kept on smiling, rolled over and went to sleep.

Bright and early the next morning one of the Gnomes lifted the lid of the box; the wire jumped with fright sending Jack straight up in the air and the accordion after him.
"Jack's in the box," they shouted, dancing with glee,
"Jack's in the box," and they were so delighted with the way he looked that they have been making "Jacks in the box" ever since.

BOY, 19, INSTALLED AS MOROCCAN SULTAN

He Will Rule Over Spanish Protectorate—Ceremony in Mosque.

By the Associated Press.

TETUAN, Spanish Morocco, Nov. 7.—A 19-year-old boy has been installed as Khalifa, or Sultan, of the Spanish protectorate in Morocco. He is Sheriff Muley Hassan Ben-El-Ehdi, and his word will mean law, as far as it concerns native civil affairs.

The installation of the Khalifa occurred yesterday with much ceremony. It took place in the great Mosque in the presence of Gen. Primo de Rivera, head of the military directorate in Spain, and his staff; Alexander P. Moore, the American Ambassador to Spain; Maj. Hodges, military attaché of the embassy in Madrid, and numerous Moroccan dignitaries. Native troops lined the route over which the new Khalifa went from the palace to the Mosque and back.

The Khalifa is the political and religious authority in the Spanish protectorate by virtue of the treaty of 1912. This treaty provides that his functions should be maintained nor stopped without the consent of the Spanish Government.

TRUCKLOAD OF CORN SUGAR CAUSES DRY RAID ON FARM
Prohibition Agent, Investigating, Finds Whisky Mash and Arrests Six Men.

A large truckload of corn sugar moving into the farm of Fred Meyer on the Colebrook road in St. Louis County was observed with suspicion by Federal Prohibition Agent Paul Toelle on his way to work Saturday. With other agents and a search warrant he visited the farm yesterday, found a large quantity of whisky mash and arrested six men.

While the raiders were inspecting their seizure, Meyer slipped off his overalls and walked out of the barn where the mash was found. He is still at large. The others arrested identified themselves as Meyer's sons, Fred and George, who live at 4325 North Taylor avenue; his brother-in-law, Louis Jurgenson; Alfred Haupt of 2847 Moffitt avenue, said to be a special Deputy Constable in the county; and Vincent Gavin, 4608 Cordin avenue.

The mash was found in two wooden vats in a frame outbuilding. There was a coke burner in the building, used presumably to expedite fermentation, and some home-brewed beer which the raiders believe was for the refreshment of the workers.

WOMAN SHOTS SELF TO DEATH IN THE HOME OF HER MOTHER
Mrs. Sarah Stuver, 29 Years Old,
Had Been in Ill Health Recently.

Mrs. Sarah Stuver, 29 years old, shot herself through the head with an automatic pistol at the home of her mother, Mrs. Vester Peterson, 6915A Magnolia avenue, last night. She died almost instantly.

Mrs. Stuver was the wife of George M. Stuver, 3827A Shenandoah avenue. She had been living with her mother recently because of nervous illness.

Tells how legs take care of sprains and strains
ACHES AND PAINS ARE SOON FIXED UP

Simple, easy treatment brings quick relief

Quick, sure relief from pain is what men want when they get lamed up from over-exercise or exposure, or when they get a sprain or bruise. A soldier in the Sixth Pennsylvania Infantry writes from camp: "Sloan's is a great thing for us boys in the army. After a stiff hike or drill your muscles are bound to ache, but they are soon fixed up with Sloan's. It's a great stuff for muscle-bound legs, lame backs, stiff necks, sprains or bruises."

The reason that Sloan's Liniment gives such remarkable relief is that it gets right at the cause of the pain. It stimulates the circulation throughout the place where the pain is, and clears out congestion.

Right away you feel relief. Stiff muscles limber up, the aching stops, and soon you are fit as ever. No need to rub. Sloan's does the whole job. Just put it on! Get a bottle today. All drug stores—35 cents.

LADY WANTED

A long established St. Louis concern wants a lady to represent them, introducing articles of personal adornment to ladies in the West End. Must be a lady of refinement—of at least fair education and good dress. Age 35 to 50 years. An extensive acquaintance in West End would be of advantage. It may or may not be necessary to have had previous business experience. We have few round positions at good pay for the right person. In answering give age and previous business experience, if any, and such other information as may have bearing on employment. Such information will be treated in strictest confidence. Address Box 1370, Post-Dispatch.

CITY TO OPPOSE PAYING COUNTY BILL OF $111,280

Sum Fixed by Commissioners for Right-of-Way for Water Mains Exceeds Private Offer by $40,000

PROPOSAL TO PUT MONEY IN ESCROW

City Official Favors Proceeding With Work, Allowing Court to Decide Total of Easement Fund.

The City of St. Louis will oppose, as being greatly excessive, the damage claim of $111,280 made today by three commissioners to Circuit Judge Wurdeman of St. Louis County, as the price of easements to the owners of about 17 acres of county land, along the route of the city's water mains, between the new "waterway" and the city limits.

The size of the claim for easements on the 17 acres, formed by a strip 100 feet wide through eight tracts of private property, is contrasted by city officials with the amount which the city has agreed to pay to the owners of 47 acres, with whom it has made private settlements, for outright purchase of the land, and with the owners of 11 acres for easements. The amount paid for these 58 acres was $64,259.28.

Lower Figures Refused.
As supporting his charge that the figure fixed by the commissioners is excessive, Water Commissioner Pritchard today said that in private negotiations with the city, the eight private owners had offered their easements for a total of $71,000, or $40,000 less than the price now fixed by the commissioners. The city rejected the $71,000 demand because it was considered excessive, and instituted condemnation proceedings.

The three commissioners, all residents of the county, are J. Emil Dosemback, J. Albert Jacobsmeier and William P. Morgan.

The Water Commissioner said that, to avoid delaying the work, he would recommend that the price fixed by the commissioners be paid into court, and that the city's exceptions be filed, and the money held in escrow pending a determination, with an appeal to higher courts if necessary.

Besides the $111,280 paid, or contracted to be paid, to owners of land along the right-of-way, the city has agreed to pay $40,000 to the county for the use of Clayton road. The addition of sum fixed by the commissioners for the remaining private right-of-way, would make the total cost of the 14-mile route $215,539.83. The 100-foot strip is required for laying three lines of five-foot pipe.

Bond Issue Item.
The costs of the right-of-way is paid from bond issue funds of the Water Department, as part of the cost of the new plant on the Missouri River.

The Commissioners' proposed award of damages, as shown in the report to Judge Wurdeman, is:

Louisiana Purchase Trading Co., Ladue road, 5.39 acres, $21,048.37; Dr. Edwin L. Sheahan, Price road, 1.94 acres, $17,253.30; Charles G. Schuize, Price road, 2 acres, $5825; Herbert Realty Co., Bonhomme road, 2.96 acres, $22,445; Mrs. Annie F. Barutto, Olive Street road, 1.53 acres, $8485; M. B. O'Reilly Realty and Investment Co., 3.3 acres, $13,275; Mrs. Mary R. Franklin, 9.3 acres, $4266.85; and Otto O. Deuser, Price road, four lots, $2875.

Judge Wurdeman has power to accept or reject the Commissioners' report or to suggest changes in it.

ST. LOUISANS ATTEND FUNERAL OF CANADIAN SENATE LEADER

Mrs. Nolan L. Hussey Was Daughter of Sir James Loughheed, Conservative Chief.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CALGARY, Alta., Nov. 9.—Funeral services here for Sir James Loughheed, Conservative leader of the Canadian Senate, were attended yesterday by his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan L. Hussey of St. Louis.

Sir James entered public life in 1889 when he became Queen's Counsel and shortly thereafter was called to the Canadian Senate. In 1908 he became the leader of the Conservatives, a position he has since held. He was one of the representatives of the Canadian Senate at the Coronation of King George and Queen Mary. He is a former member of the Federal Cabinet. Leaders in Canadian public life attended the services.

Sir James' daughter and Hussey were married Nov. 8, 1924, here.

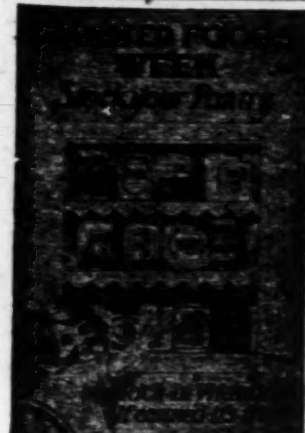

CHICAGO BOY SOUGHT HERE

Father Asks Police to Find Harry T. Carroll, 17 Years Old.
Police have been asked to find Harry T. Carroll Jr., 17 years old, of Chicago, by his father, who came to St. Louis yesterday, but returned last night. In company with another boy, Carroll left Chicago for Florida where they hoped to find employment as caddy masters, two weeks ago.

A card to a friend in Chicago asked that he sell Carroll's golf clubs and send the money to him here. No address was given.

He is described as being 5 feet tall, having light brown hair and gray eyes, and being dressed in a gray cap, golf shoes and two sweaters. The father's address is 11 La Salle street.

The Penalty of Neglect

Modern Life With Its Hurry, Worry and Constant Strain Is Taking a Heavy Toll in Diseases of Middle Age.

Is a constant headache wearing you out? Are you lame and aching? nervous and depressed? Do annoying kidney irregularities disturb your night's rest?

Then you should know that these are often signs of kidney disorder, and kidney trouble is too dangerous to neglect.

A famous medical authority has said the diseases that cut short lives today are those of middle life: heart disease, diseases of the kidneys and diseases of the blood vessels. The danger is that they are insidious in their onset.

Too often the warning of continued backache or disturbance of the kidney secretions is ignored until a serious condition develops.

Fortunately, kidney disorders are usually easily corrected if treated early. Neglected, there is danger of serious kidney disease.

Why, then, risk neglect? If you have reason to suspect your kidneys, why not give Doan's Pills a trial? Doan's have been used successfully for over thirty-five years. They are recommended the world over. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These St. Louis People:

WILLIAM BOHDE, Prop. of Fruit and Produce Business, 1109 Third St., says: "My back was weak and aching, and when I bent over, catches took me. There were also rheumatic pains in my shoulders and limbs. My kidneys were disordered. Headaches also bothered me, but after using Doan's Pills from Miller's Drug Store I was soon fixed up in fine shape."

Mrs. ONEIDA PARSONS, 1932 Gravois Ave., says: "When I suffered with kidney trouble there was a severe pain in my back. It was so bad I put a plaster on my back to try to get relief. When I stooped and then straightened, dizzy spells came over me and I could hardly see. My kidneys were surely affected for they scarcely acted at all. After using Doan's Pills, kidney trouble was entirely removed."

PARENTS OF GIRL, 15, CAUSE MAN'S ARREST

H. J. Goyett, Self-Styled Magnetic Healer, Denies Undue Intimacy With Patient.

A warrant charging rape was issued today against Henry J. Goyett, 57 years old, of 1836A North Jefferson avenue, a paint foreman and self-styled magnetic healer, upon complaint of the parents of a 15-year-old lame girl, whom he was treating.

His arrest was caused by Peter J. Fourcault, 3135A Caroline street, a trainman, who took his stepdaughter, Nettie Mino, to police headquarters yesterday. She walks with a cane and crutch because her left leg is undeveloped as the result of infantile paralysis.

Goyett denies the charge. He told the police he had a divine gift to cure by the laying on of hands. He said he discovered it as a child when he cured his mother's headaches, and since has cured hundreds of persons without charge, he and his wife.

Last summer he saw Nettie on the street and arranged with a friend to meet her family because he thought he could help her, he related. He called frequently to administer his treatment, and had progressed so far that the girl had discarded a steel brace she wore since childhood, he declared. He occasionally took her to Forest Park or to a theater to get her mind off her trouble, he said.

Goyett is married and works in the paint room of a local pump factory.

BARBER SAYS WIFE WOULDN'T STAND FOR BOB CUSTOMERS

C. G. Simpson Tells of Quarrels, Then Disappearance of Wife

The flapper invasion of the barber shop which followed the coming of bobbed hair was the beginning of the domestic discords of Claude G. Simpson, barber, and his wife, Rachel, he testified in the Court of Domestic Relations today.

Mrs. Simpson became so jealous, he said, that she spent her days in his shop, jealously accusing him of being over-intimate with his women customers and trying to tell him just how to behave. One quarrel led to another until, on July 12, 1924, after 12 years together, she packed up and left the State, he said. Judge Hartmann granted Simpson a decree. He lives at 5007 Vernon avenue.

MAN KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY WABASH PASSENGER TRAIN

Warren McArdle, 26, a Plumber, of Ferguson, Walking on Tracks When Hit.

Warren McArdle, 26 years old, a plumber, 123 Adams avenue, Ferguson, was killed at 9:40 o'clock a. m. yesterday by a Wabash passenger train near the depot there. McArdle left his home to walk to the depot along the tracks. According to witnesses he became confused by the approach of two trains from opposite directions. He stepped from the path of a freight train directly in front of the passenger train. His widow and two small children survive.

ACCUSED OF HAVING WEAPON

Man Found Unconscious From Blow by Relative.

Police called to 713A Marion street at 1 p. m. yesterday found Joseph Pesak, 25 years old, of 1813 Geyer avenue, unconscious on the sidewalk. George Glickert, a relative by marriage, said Pesak appeared at his home intoxicated and flourishing a revolver. Glickert disarmed Pesak after striking him with a poker.

Pesak was treated at City Hospital for a laceration of the scalp and a slight concussion of the brain, and removed to the Souard Police Station.

Bonds Taken From Safe After Burglars Force Transom.

Burglars forced a transom leading to the office of Fordyce, Holliday & White, a law firm, 1401 Liberty Central Building, yesterday afternoon, smashed the combination knob from a cabinet safe and stole three $1000 bonds of a coal company and a small amount of cash. The burglary was discovered by Miss Madeline G. Kelly and Miss Florence Calmer, stenographers, who went to the office last night for extra work.

Funeral of Mrs. Sophie Flacke. Funeral services for Mrs. Sophie Flacke, widow of Frank J. Flacke, a one-time editor of Amerika, a German language newspaper, who died Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frances Harden, 2418 Keokuk street, will be held at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow from the Harden home to St. Peter and Paul Cemetery. Mrs. Flacke was born in St. Louis and was 78 years old. Two sons, Aloys H. and Gus H., of Milwaukee, and another daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Hampel, of St. Louis, survive.

Olcott's Condition Improved.

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The condition of Chauncey Olcott, veteran actor, who was stricken with a heart and kidney ailment in Ann Arbor, Mich., 10 days ago, was declared to be very satisfactory today. Olcott was brought to this city by train last week-end and taken to his home, considered by the family a "lucky house," from the fact that he regained his health in it following a similar illness several years ago.

YOU have heard of a rush to cities and states where "booms" are on—and where money flows from all over the country to purchase lots, farms, unimproved dunes and swamp lands.

You've heard, too, of fabulous fortunes made overnight—but you are not likely to hear the stories of the money lost—of the bitter disappointments. "Boom" prices cannot endure unless there is a real value behind them.

St. Louis has never been a "boom" town, but do you realize what is happening here today? The city is now right in the midst of its greatest development. Its tremendous building activity is to meet a demand already created—to provide needed facilities for its wonderful progress and expansion. By investing in your home city, and its industries, you share in the sure and certain profits and prosperity resulting from a great industrial community that is trying to catch up with its own growth.

Never was there greater opportunity in St. Louis than now. Values are sound—proved by time—not inflated. St. Louis has the advantages of central location, diversified industry, and enjoyable home environment. Its progress, never spectacular, has been steady and consistent.

Invest your money in a community which you know all about. Invest in St. Louis—the town that never had a "boom" nor a boomerang!

"If I only had your lovely skin, Alice!"

"Mine is so bad, not even rouge and powder do any good. But anyone would think you had just got back from vacation. What's the secret?"

"Why, Madge, there's no secret. I would have told you long ago but I felt I couldn't speak of it until you asked me. My doctor told me that constipation was the cause of most skin troubles. Poisons from the waste matter are picked up by the blood and carried to all parts of the body, especially the skin. They were ruining my skin, too, until he prescribed Nujol for me. Nujol stopped the constipation and my complexion began to improve right away. Try it for a week or two and see."

Don't Refuse the Beauty Aid Nujol Will Give

No one needs to have a sallow, muddy complexion. The cause is simple; the remedy is in your own hands. Proper diet, exercise, surface cleanliness and—above all—internal cleanliness. Nujol prevents the formation of intestinal poisons that ruin your health and complexion.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. Nujol simply makes up for a deficiency—temporary or chronic—in the supply of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular elimination, without overtaxing the intestinal muscles.

ITALIANS SAID TO WANT 68 YEARS
TO SETTLE DEBT

Mission Expected to Propose First Payment of $5,000,000, Increasing to $30,000,000 Annually.

AGREEMENT BY TOMORROW LIKELY

Figures of Italians and U. S. Department of Commerce Agree on Question of Capacity to Pay.

By CHARLES MICHELSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Tomorrow should see the Italian debt issue settled, though this depends on the attitude President Coolidge will take.

The situation is not very different from what it was on the last day of the French negotiations when Secretary Mellon reported to the President that the American commissioners were divided as to the wisdom of accepting the best offer the French were willing to make.

As then, the commission is not now unanimous. There are, however, certain elements in the problem that differentiate the case of Italy from the French.

To begin with, the figures compiled by the Department of Commerce as to Italy's capacity to pay coincide with those produced by Count Volpi at the beginning of the proceedings, a condition that did not exist when the French put as their limit a maximum of $100,000,000 a year, to be attained after 20 years, and with a clause stipulating for a revision if France found herself unable to meet the suggested payments.

Attitude of President.
Under these conditions President Coolidge would not express his own view and as the commission was evenly divided there was no result. The same outcome is possible in the present situation.

The contrary hope, is based largely on the circumstance that while one failure did not cause any serious unfavorable reaction from the country, a repetition would be very likely to do so.

The President intimated the other day his belief an agreement was on the way, which while not conclusive, is taken to mean that should a majority of the commission wish to accept the Italian offer, Mr. Coolidge will approve.

It is not required that the commission be unanimous in any decision, but it is equally true that unless the President is satisfied the board would not recommend a settlement to Congress.

No vote has been taken by the commission, but it is understood that while three of the American commissioners are willing to close the matter on the best terms they can get, two are, against such terms as are predicted in Italy's presentation, while three are more or less uncommitted.

Probable Italian Offer.
The Italian offer has not yet been committed to paper, but the conversations have disclosed it will be something along the lines of initial payments of $5,000,000 a year for a considerable period, mounting finally to somewhere in the neighborhood of $30,000,000. There is no agreement as to the time for extinguishing the debt. The Italians are said to wish a period as long or longer, than was suggested for the French settlement—65 years.

There is, of course, a wide gulf between the indicated proposition and what the Americans have in mind, but the expectation is that the desire to close the matter will prevail.

INCREASED U. S. FOREIGN TRADE

Comparison of 1912 and 1923 Figures Made by Department.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—A statistical representation of the increased importance attained by the United States in foreign trade has been worked out by the Commerce Department on the basis of comparisons between trade figures of 1912 and those of 1923.
In the latter year, the United States accounted for 13.8 per cent of the imports of the 54 principal trading countries of the world which had a commodity value of $4,232,145,900. In 1912, it furnished only 14.9 per cent of the imports of the same countries, with a commodity value of $2,732,177,400. It also was a more important customer of the producing populations of the world in 1923 when it took 16.6 per cent of the total output of the same 54 countries, with a value of $4,125,145,000. In 1912, it took 9.6 per cent of the output, with a value of $1,510,174,000.

BROADCASTING PROBLEMS THAT MUST BE SOLVEDWith All Air Channels Over-Crowded, Government and Public Must Decide What Stations Shall Survive.WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Secretary Hoover, of the Department of Commerce, addressing the fourth national radio conference at its opening session today, presented the problems of broadcasting in the following address:"This is the fourth annual occasion upon which I have had the pleasure of calling together the National Radio Conference for consultation with the Department of Commerce in the solution of the ever new problems which have developed in the growth of this astonishing industry."Four years ago we were dealing with a scientific toy, today we are dealing with a vital force in American life. We are, I believe, bringing this lusty child out of its swaddling clothes without any infant diseases. We have not only developed, in the conferences, traffic systems by which a vastly increasing number of messages are kept upon the air without destroying each other, but we have developed, in the ethics of the public service and the response of public confidence."The rapid extension in the international field of American radio telegraph companies, which has already given us a dominant position, has continued during the past year. Public service has been inaugurated with Columbia, Honduras, Costa Rica and Nicaragua. We have reason to hope that connection with Guatemala will soon be effective, thus forging another link in the communication chain which binds us to our friends in Central America. Direct service with Sweden commenced last December, and trans-Pacific, South American, and trans-Pacific services have continued their effectiveness. Entertainment have been undertaken in the Philippines and in China. Altogether we will, by another 12 months, have systematic radio telegraphic communication with nearly every important country in the world, a matter of vast importance, for it increases the movement of ideas as well as business. We have no pressing problems before us in this field.Growth of Industry.
"It is in broadcasting, of course, that we have again seen the most important changes and in which we again develop the most pressing problems. There has been some improvement on the technical side.
Better means of enabling the stations to maintain their assigned frequencies have eliminated much of the interference in the high frequency bands. The increase in the number of stations has been great.
In the frequency range of sets making the shorter wavelengths of the broadcasting band more available. Improvement in sets has given far greater precedence in tone and quality. Experimental work in the high frequencies is giving encouragement to the further development of the art.The most profound change during the year, however, has been the tremendous increase in power and the rapid multiplication of powerful stations. When the conference assembled a year ago, there were 115 stations equipped to use 500 watts or more. Now we have 187 such stations, an increase during the year of over 70 per cent. This mere numerical expansion of stations falls far short of telling the whole story. A year ago only two stations were equipped to use an excess of 500 watts. Of the new stations, 32 are equipped to use 1000 watts, 25 to use 5000 watts, and two still higher power, making 59 in all against two last year. Taking the situation as a whole, we find that a year ago all stations of 500 watts and over were using a total of 67,500 watts. Today they use 236,500 watts, or a 250 per cent increase.Service Area Defined.
"Our experience during the year has somewhat more clearly defined the geographical area within which a single broadcasting station can give complete service. And by 'complete service' I mean the conditions and all times of day and territory within which the average set can depend upon getting clear, understandable and enjoyable service from the station day or night, summer or winter."What the maximum area of positive service we do not yet know with any precision. The Bureau of Standards has recently carried on some rather extensive tests, and has accumulated some interesting information, though it is not yet ready to give us any definite figures. If, however, we set up the most rigid standard of say complete service in adverse atmospheric conditions and all times of day and year for the average crystal set, then the bureau's actual intensity measurements would seem to indicate that this radius of the circle served by a station of 500 watts will not extend 10 miles, and that a 5000-watt station will cover about 30 miles and 50,000 watt stations will not cover much over 100 miles.
Obviously more sensitive receiving sets, better quality of radio waves, and at once greatly extend these distances.The problems in broadcasting are, as ever before in these conferences, of two categories: Those on the one hand which the industry can and should solve for itself in order to safeguard the public service and its own interest, and on the other hand, those which can only be solved in co-operation with the Government.Chain Stations.
"One of the problems which we considered at the last conference was that of interconnection. This has proceeded during the year in splendid fashion without any necessary of artificial stimulation. A year ago interconnection between stations was only occasional and was a great curiosity. No public systematized and has gone far toward the creation of long linked systems which will finally give us universal broadcasting of nationwide events. The number of people who throbbed with joys and sorrows at the dramatic presentation of minute-to-minute events of the world's series is one of the most astonishing landmarks in radio broadcasting."Another problem for solution by the industry itself and which now rests prominently on the public mind, is that of advertising. There lies within it the possibility of grave harm and even vital danger to the entire broadcasting structure. The desire for publicity is the basic motive and the financial support for almost all the broadcasting in the country today.Publicity largely provides the cost of broadcasting which might otherwise fall upon the listener, who now pays nothing, much as the advertiser does in the case of the newspaper or magazine.
Whether an individual accomplishes his purpose through the building and operating of his own station or by hiring time on one already built by somebody else makes little difference."But the radio listener does not have the same option that the reader of publication has to ignore advertising in which he is not interested, and he may resent the intrusion of his set. It has been pointed out over and over again in previous conferences, and it might well be reiterated by this one, that advertising in the intrusive sense will dull the interest of the listener and thus defeat the industry.
Furthermore, it can bring disaster to the very purpose of advertising
if it creates resentment to the advertiser. If we can distinguish on one hand between unobtrusive publicity that is accompanied by a direct address and on the other hand, the intrusive senseless
advertising, we can bring disaster
to the very purpose of advertising
if it creates resentment to the advertiser. If we can distinguish on one hand between unobtrusive publicity that is accompanied by a direct address and on the other hand, the intrusive senseless
advertising, we can bring disaster
to the very purpose of advertising
if it creates resentment to the advertiser.Isolation of Plants.
"Another problem that the industry could quite well stimulate is the removal of stations from congested centers. Blanketing of reception is inevitable within some short range of every station, and when it is in the way of a station, it can bring disaster to the very purpose of advertising. Remote control has developed to the point where city studios operate perfectly with transmitters far outside the city limits. I look forward to the not distant time when all stations of sufficient size to cause disturbance will be banished from the cities and when their blanketing annoyances will cease. The conference could render a definite service by formulating proposals to the industry for the removal of stations from congested centers.Future of Industry Secure.
Cut off by the British blockade, Germany was unable to get a considerable quantity of Chilean nitrate but she needed it for her munition works. She was forced to turn to the United States for her supply requirements and has remained to day to enter world markets.
Within the last year, however, constant experimentation in the synthetic process, American industry has developed a synthetic nitrate under the auspices of the War Department and of the Department of Agriculture evolved the secret and now the future of a fixed nitrogen industry in the United States is assured.Dr. Frederick G. Cottrell, director of the laboratory, expressed the opinion to the correspondent today that the United States need never again be faced with a shortage of nitrogen either for national defense or for agriculture. He believes the industry now getting under way rapidly will place upon the market so cheap a synthetic ammonia as to undersell Chilean nitrate. He said that the synthetic

Entire Aspect of Muscle Shoals Problem—Five

20-23 Wyatt Building.WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—After years of research and the expenditure of millions, Government scientists are satisfied that they have solved a mystery of vital importance to national defense and to American agriculture—how to make a cheap synthetic ammonia, otherwise fixed nitrogen, indispensable for making modern munitions and fertilizer.American industry already has been so thoroughly convinced that the secret of fixed nitrogen has been discovered, that a half dozen plants are in contemplation, the most important one to be erected by the Dupont interests at Charlestown, W. Va., which is to have an ultimate capacity of 120 tons of ammonia a day. This is four-fifths the capacity of the Muscle Shoals plants, erected by the Government in a vain effort to furnish this essential ingredient during the war of construction. The plants now outlet to absorb all the output of its plant in the manufacture of munitions, but the objective is to enter also the fertilizer field, competing against Chilean nitrate, and the secret, supposed to be held by the Government-backed natural monopoly, dependence upon on which was a constant source of alarm to the War Department from the day the United States entered the World War.The hope of escaping from the dangers of reliance upon a foreign monopoly that Congress authorized the expenditure of more than $130,000,000 on the Muscle Shoals plants. Up to the time that the Muscle Shoals plant failed to produce, it has stood idle ever since, and is still vexing Congress and the administration.Scientists Solve Riddle.
Meanwhile, in the Government's fixed nitrogen laboratory, at American University here, chemists and engineers have solved the riddle, hidden in German patents seized by the Government when the war started. Germany knew how to make synthetic ammonia in 1913, and the secret, supposed to be recorded in a series of patents obtained in this country.War Department officials say it was possession of this secret that enabled Germany to go to war in 1914 confident that she could supply her own munitions and intensify her agriculture, independent of the Chilean monopoly.
When the United States seized the German patents covering the so-called Haber method of nitrogen fixation, it was supposed—erroneously as things turned out—that they furnished the necessary key to establishment of the industry here.It was in that mistaken belief that Congress voted $12,000,000 for reconstruction of Plant No. 1 at Muscle Shoals, intended to make nitrogen by the Haber process. But when the plant was ready to operate it was found that the German patent had not divulged the real key to the industry in their patent papers. Plant No. 1 was a failure.Thereupon Plant No. 2 was rapidly commissioned, resorting to the relatively laborious and expensive cyanamide process, now considered obsolete.Chile heretofore has been the chief source of nitrate supply to the United States. In 1923 the United States imported 2,066,443 tons of Chilean nitrate, chiefly for high explosives and smokeless powder.Germany expects this year to produce 350,000 tons by the synthetic process. American industry is expected to produce 200,000 tons out not more than 9000 tons this year. Annual imports into the United States are about 1,000,000 tons.Philippine Senate on Railroads.

change the entire aspect of the Muscle Shoals problem, and Presiincoming Congress, will reflect the new state of affairs through a millennium report to be filed by Harry A. Curtis of Yale University, who completed a year ago an elaborate survey of the world nitrogen situation for Secretary of Commerce Hoover.Prof. Curtis will view the Muscle Shoals plants as primarily useful now in generating hydro-electric power, whereas nearly all the legislation in Congress in the last few years has sought to dispose of essentially as a source of fertilizer."We have reached the point,"

Dr. Cottrell said, "where it is generally conceded we can meet present competitive costs. Five small plants are already in operation and a half dozen more are in the course of construction. The plants now built or building are the first in establishment of what we believe will be one of the most important industries in the country."Description of Process.
The Haber process of making synthetic ammonia, is this: Hydrogen, obtained from coal and coke rather than from electric power, is pumped into steel tanks, into which ordinary air made up of a mixture of nitrogen and oxygen is forced. A spark plug of the familiar automobile variety inside the tank ignites some of the hydrogen and combines it with the oxygen into water, which can be drawn off. By providing an excess of hydrogen in the mixture, all the hydrogen is consumed, so that only nitrogen and hydrogen remain in the tank, in the ratio of one part of nitrogen to three parts hydrogen.These gases are then forced through a purifier and then, at a pressure of 4500 pounds to the square inch, are compressed into a steel vessel known as a bomb and heated up to about 400 degrees centigrade. The heated gases are then passed over a catalyst, which causes them to combine into ammonia. The catalyst is made of treated oxide of iron, but why it causes the fusion of the heated gases into ammonia is a mystery.The yield of ammonia in this process is up to 20 per cent, using a catalyst perfected by the fixed nitrogen laboratory. German yields are reported to be below this figure. Ammonia, thus obtained is called anhydrous ammonia, which becomes a liquid when cooled.
The familiar household ammonia is about 25 per cent anhydrous, the rest being water. From this anhydrous ammonia are derived acid for munitions, the ammonia used in cold storage plant refrigeration, in producing stable chemicals such as soda ash, nitrate for artificial leather, photographic films, imitation ivory and celluloid as a component in making dyes, sulphuric acid and fertilizer.Chile heretofore has been the chief source of nitrate supply to
the United States. In 1923 the

Syrian Villages, Causing

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Large crowds of the people of Damascus early Sunday morning witnessed the public execution by the French of three Arabs, according to advices from the Syrian city.Apparently in an effort to instill full respect for the mandatory power, the bodies of the men were left suspended on the ropes on which they were hanged for six hours.The Arabs were members of a party which some time ago attacked a convoy on its way to Bagdad and killed the French Captain and wounded other members of the party. To each body was attached a large placard on which was printed a description of the crime for which the men were hanged.A newspaper correspondent who made his way from Haifa to Damascus describes the destruction wrought by the French bombardment in the city, which, he says, is extensive. Particularly the Palace of Adem was badly battered and many of the valuable contents looted. He says it is evident that when the Djebel Druze tribesmen made their way into Damascus, the lower elements of the population threw in their lot with them.The burning by the French of various villages where support was not given them and a similar destruction of numerous villages by the Druzes has resulted in large numbers of homeless men joining the rebels and constituting a force that now is a real menace.This correspondent expects that when the expected eight battalions of infantry and two regiments of cavalry arrive to reinforce the French they will immediately announce the capture of the city.The Japanese spokesman, outlining the suggestions of his Government, laid stress on the importance of the use to which money accru-ing from the proposed early increase of customs revenues should be put by the Government.The rehabilitation of Chinese credit," he said, "demands the consolidation of various outstanding debts unsecured or insufficiently secured and reconsideration that this phase of the problem should be settled on the following principles:
"The debt to be funded shall include both internal and external.
"The funding shall be by the issue of consolidation bonds of the required amount secured upon customs revenue. These bonds would be distributed among creditors in lieu of their original loans.
"The term of funding should be as fair and generous to China as possible."GERMAN CABINET ATTENDS

Pity the Weak Skinny Children

Nature's greatest health builder and strength giver is Cod Liver Oil—it's full of vitamins of the first class—everyone knows that. But pity the poor children—how can they take that tasty, nauseating stuff that invariably upsets their small, delicate stomachs?

Most of them can't, and now—thank goodness—none of them have to. For now Cod Liver Oil comes in tasteless sugar-coated tablets, that are as easy for the kids to take as candy, and they sure do build up the youngsters in double quick time. So, mothers, if any one of your loved ones is frail and peaked or isn't feeling right just ask Wolff-Wilson, Walgreen Drug Co., successors to Judge & Dolph Drug Stores, Eadsley Drug Co., Johnson Bros. Drug Co., or any drugstore for a box of McCoys' Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets—60 cents.

One sickly, thin child aged 9 gained 12 pounds in seven months, and now plays daily with other children. Spend for any run down, weak, skin, or nervous man or woman—thousands of boxes are sold daily—but be sure and ask for McCoys' Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They are original and genuine. Try them for ten days and you won't be deceived with the improvement your druggists are authorized to send you back the money you paid for them.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting
Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the rectum. Dr. J. Leimbach was first to find the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROD. Dr. Leimbach tried it on 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee. Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROD from Wolff-Wilson Drug Co. today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and will do the same for you.

CONSTIPATION GONE; SUFFERED 8 YEARS

"My wife has been troubled for eight years with constipation. She has tried almost everything on the market and has never received any benefit from any of them. In fact, they have done more harm than good."

"She overheard one lady telling another what Milks Emulsion had done for her. She got a bottle and has continued its use since. She weighed 97 pounds at that time, and after taking five bottles she now weighs 117 pounds, gained 20 pounds on five large bottles; besides she is feeling fine."

"If all the people suffering from constipation knew what Milks Emulsion would do for them, you would see the emulsion your plant."—Leonard McKee, 29 Eye St., N. E., Washington, D. C.

Milks Emulsion restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food, thus building flesh and strength, which are Nature's only aids in conquering germs and repairing the effects of wasting diseases.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Wonderful for weak, sickly children. No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion. If not satisfied with results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. Sold by druggists everywhere.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION
Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them "Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets." You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, head-aches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and you will be astonished.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for cathartics—and they get to keep them fit, fat and fine.

Lee's CREO-LYPTUS
Quickly relieves Croup and Whooping Cough. Children like it—pleasant to take. At your druggist, only 50 cents. A perfect Emulsion of Creosote, Eucalyptus and Pine Tar.

HOOVER OUTLINES THE PROBLEMS OF RADIO BROADCASTING

hicles on the roads than can get by, and if they continue to jam in, all will be stopped.

Channels All Utilized.
"It is a simple physical fact that we have no more channels. It is not possible to furnish them under the present state of technical development. It takes no argument to demonstrate that 59 wave lengths (and no more are available), cannot be made to serve innumerable stations, no matter how ingenious we may be in arranging time divisions and geographical separations. It is not a question of what we would like to do but what we must do."

"One alternative, which would only partly solve the problem, would be to increase the number of stations by further dividing the time of the present stations down to one or two days a week or one or two hours a day. From the listener's viewpoint, and that is the only one to be considered, he would get a much degenerated service if we were to do that. None of these will be improved, and in most cases they will be ruined by introducing more stations to traverse the same channels. A half dozen good stations in any community, operating full air time, will give as much service in quantity and a far better service in quality than 13, each on one-third time."

"As the art progresses the capital investment in a good station has risen to upwards of $10,000, and to provide technical staff, good talent and interconnection the cost of operation has risen to as much as $100,000 per annum, and frequently even more. The costs are in a large part the same whether the station works one day in a week or seven. If we impose more division of time then at present we shall drive the best stations out of action and the public will be more poorly served. The choice is between public interest and private desire, and we need not hesitate in making a decision. There are, of course, some stations of special character, which can divide time, but they do not often lie in congested territory."

Public to Judge.
"It seems to me we have in this development of governmental relations two distinct problems. First, is a question of traffic control. This must be a Federal responsibility. From an interference point of view, every word broadcasted is an interstate war. This is a question of a 100 per cent interstate question."

The second question is the determination of who shall use the traffic channels, and under what conditions. This is a very large discretionary or a semi-judicial function which should not devolve directly upon any single official, and I believe, a matter in which each local community should have a large voice—should in some fashion participate in a determination of who should use the channels available for broadcasting in that locality."

"In other words, the ideal situation, as I see it, would be traffic regulation by the Federal Government to the extent of allotment of wave lengths and control of power and the policing of interference, leaving to each community a large voice in determining who are to occupy the wave lengths assigned to that community. It is true, of course, that radio is not circumscribed by state lines, and still less by city boundaries. But it is possible, nevertheless, to establish zones which will at least roughly approximate the service areas of stations, and to a very considerable extent to entrust to them the settlement of their local problems."

"To sum up, the major problems for consideration are to my mind: (a) Is public interest paramount? (b) Shall we limit the total number of stations in each zone pending further development of the art? (c) What basis shall be established for determining who shall use the radio channels? (d) What administrative machinery shall we create to make the determination?"

SLAIN IN GAMBLING GAME

Negro Shot by Another Who Had "Gone Broke."

Thomas Mosley, 20 years old, of 2125 Walnut street, a negro, refused another negro credit in a game of "Black Jack" at Mosley's home yesterday, and the negro drew an automatic pistol and shot and killed Mosley. The player escaped.

Three witnesses told policemen the negro had "gone broke" in the game and then wanted to bet $1. Mosley told him to produce the money, but the negro asked for credit. Mosley told him he would have to produce or get out of the game. The negro walked to a door, drew the pistol and fired three times. Two of the bullets struck Mosley.

Gen. F. M. Rumboold of Missouri. Mrs. Kohn is his sister and formerly lived in St. Louis.

'COMBINATION' TOPIC OF LODGE LETTER

"Morris, Harry and Willy Like a Carbuncle." Grand Master Wrote.

"The time has arrived where the combination of Morris, Harry and Willy must be broken up as otherwise it will prove a carbuncle on the neck of the Order."

So wrote Samuel Epstein of Chicago, grand master of the Progressive Order of the West, a Jewish fraternity, to a local member of the order in July, 1925. Epstein is in the jewelry business and one of the dictionary definitions of "carbuncle" is "a brilliant red gem," but he evidently did not regard his fellow executives, Morris, Harry and Willy as gems.

Sought to Break Combination.
Epstein, who was seeking re-election against a candidate sponsored by the "combination," continued: "I will open up against them. I have lots of matters to discuss with you, proving to you my weak side of humanity, believing in so-called friends on the expense of others and afterwards being side-tracked by them. I have to tell you matters that I have kept for myself for two years and lived in constant bothering by them."

"When I will open up to you, I am sure that your eyes will widen, hearing what I have had to suffer, by whom? A couple of men who have intrigued and conspired, belittled and insulted everybody in the path of their ways."

"I am out to win this time more than ever in order to break up the rusty combination. I will prove to my hesitating friends that I am here to sacrifice myself for the interest of the order."

Hatchet Seemingly Buried.
Well, Epstein was re-elected. So were members of the "combination." Epstein's supporter, who received the letter, has since concluded Epstein and the "combination" have buried the hatchet. This St. Louisan believes Epstein should have continued his attacks on the "combination" even after election day. Photostatic copies of the letter are being distributed among members of the fraternity.

It's all part of an internal controversy, which has been going on since the last convention at Kansas City, last July. Administration opponents assert the organization's books showed a deficit of $55,000 and that the deficit will be greater this year, as certain officers were granted salary increases. The administration says the deficit is not a deficit, but merely represents laudable contributions for charitable and educational projects. Epstein characterized the talk of deficit as "unreasonable, malicious propaganda."

Delegates from Abraham Lincoln Lodge 122, St. Louis, returned from the convention and reported the "lamentable" conditions, whereupon the 400 members decided, "in a sentiment of pure and justified caution" (quoting Alex. Nehamen, one of the delegates), to postpone payment of further monthly assessments. Executives of the order then suspended the entire membership. Undaunted, the members decided to remain suspended and to form an independent fraternal organization.

The P. O. W. was founded in St. Louis 29 years ago and now has a total membership of approximately 13,000, with 92 lodges in various cities, including 13 in St. Louis. Headquarters are in the Frisco Building here. In addition to its social aspects, it carries insurance for widows and orphans of members.

SANITARIUM PATIENT KILLED IN FALL TRYING TO ESCAPE

Thomas Powers, 54, Plunged From Third-Story Window; Skull Fractured.

Thomas Powers, 54 years old, a patient at the City Sanitarium, was instantly killed yesterday, when he fell to a concrete area way in an attempt to escape from a third-floor window of the institution by means of bed sheets knotted end-to-end.

He had slipped into a storeroom adjoining the ward where he was confined, while attendants were busy elsewhere, and had torn an iron grating from a window.

The improvised rope was hanging from the window when Powers was found dead of skull fracture. Apparently he had lost his hold as he started to descend.

Powers was placed in the sanitarium July 21 last. He formerly lived at 5318 Maffitt avenue.

Thanksgiving Day Proclamation.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 9.—Gov. Baker today issued a proclamation urging general observance in Missouri of Thanksgiving day on Nov. 26, as an expression of thanksgiving for "the many things for which we should be thankful." The Governor's proclamation says: "Here, in Missouri, we have been especially blessed with material prosperity. Let us remember the less fortunate and be generous in our assistance to the worthy." He also suggests that the flag be displayed from homes, business houses and public buildings.

14 SHIPS ON RUM ROW WITH HOLIDAY LIQUOR

Schooners Dot Horizon Off Atlantic Seaboard From Boston to Key West.

Recalled to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Santa Claus has shown a firm resolution not to fail the serious drinker for the holidays.

Yesterday a herd of his aquatic reindeer was seen near rum row—that same rum row that the dry navy a few months ago thought it had driven past the horizon never to return.

Fourteen liquor laden galleons were observed by masters of incoming vessels off the Jersey and Long Island coasts.

These rum ships, seamen say, do not anchor as long in one place as the others did. Their strategy is designed to exhaust the fuel supply of the patrol boats, so they may open negotiations with purchasers while the coast guard vessels are away refueling.

Four new schooners were reported off Boston. Many shady hulks were sighted off the Virginia capes and more as far south as Key West. Smaller craft were seen trying for contacts with the land.

It was learned that the first of the new 100-foot patrol boats to be completed at Bay City, Mich., is expected here today or tomorrow. Experts have left for the ship yards to expedite completion of the remaining dozen. They are to be brought through the canal from Buffalo before ice forms.

6-FOOT MAN, IN 5-FOOT CELL

FOR FOUR YEARS, TO BE FREED

Habeas Corpus Writ Granted Alaskan Convicted of Murder; He Charges Framing.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 2.—Vuko Perovich, who for four years crouched in an Alaskan dungeon, expecting daily to be led away to death, will be a free man today. He will be released from the Federal penitentiary, where he has been since 1929 on a verdict of habeas corpus granted by Federal Judge John C. Pollock.

Perovich, in 1925, was convicted of the murder of a prospector in the Alaskan gold fields. Three men gave testimony against him and charred bones from a burned cabin were displayed as evidence. He was sentenced to death. In those days it was necessary for the President to sign the death warrant. President Roosevelt went out of office without signing it.

Now for four years Perovich, 6 feet tall, was confined in a dungeon 4 feet wide, 10 feet long and 3 feet high. A United States Marshal was indicted for the cruel treatment.

Then in 1929 President Taft commuted the sentence to life imprisonment and Perovich was brought to the Federal prison here. The writ was issued by Judge Pollock on Perovich's contention that in 1929 President Taft did not have the power to change the sentence. The witnesses who testified against him, he declares, were men with whom he had fought over a claim. Perovich asserts that they "framed" the charge. There never was any actual proof the prospector had been killed, Perovich says, claiming the bones brought to court were those of a dog.

Arkansas Banker Dies.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 2.—Ed. H. Johnson, 76 years old, a well-known banker of this state, died at his home here yesterday. For a number of years he was president of the Security Bank and more recently organized the Como Trust Co. and built the Como Hotel. He had been in poor health for many months. He is survived by two daughters, Adele Johnson and Mrs. Sidney Nutt of Hot Springs, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. O. K. Bovard of St. Louis. Following services here the body will be removed to St. Louis for cremation. Mr. Johnson was a civil engineer in his early life and for 40 years had been active in the commercial development of Hot Springs.

Love That Conquered

A Powerful Gripping True Story

FIFTEEN minutes after Jessie had told her landlady that she could not pay her room rent because she had lost her job she was on the sidewalk.

Without money, without friends, her scant belongings held by an irate landlady what could she do?

She was desperate!

All night she wandered from street to street finally to fall fainting upon a bench in Golden Gate Park.

That is where Jules Stockton found her. And that is how it came about that when Jessie slowly returned to consciousness she found herself held in strong arms being borne away—she knew not where.

Born of good family, Stockton had run away from home while still a boy. At first a hobo, he later enlisted in the army and was sent to the Philippines.

When he returned he was thoroughly hard—had no fear of God or man—and no respect or reverence for women.

Had Jessie known the kind of man he was she would rather have been left to die upon the park bench than go with him. But she did not know and, because she was desperate for food and warmth, she went.

Thus was the stage set for one of the most dramatic battles between good and evil that was ever fought. On the one side—a girl, frail, weak of body but strong in spirit, on the other a man, powerful, ruthless, determined to have his way—steadfast woman opposed to predatory man.

As you read this thrilling story, entitled "Little Things That Count," which appears in True Story Magazine for December, you will realize as never before what a frightful penalty men and women pay for their ignorance of the TRUTH about life. The tragedy that engulfed this homeless, friendless, innocent girl could never have occurred had she been protected by the armor of knowledge which every girl—and every boy—should possess.

To instruct, to warn, to inspire, to guide—that is the mission of True Story Magazine. If you are not already a reader of this great publication—begin with the December issue—on all newsstands today.

Other Great Features In December True Story Magazine:

"The Woman In The Case"—Mollie was only a "hello girl"—alone in the world. Yet three things she possessed: her job, good looks, her self-respect. And when, out of a clear sky, there came an offer of $20,000—a sum which meant comfort for life—if she would help to shatter a good man's name—what do you think Mollie did? What would you have done?

True Story is a Great Moral Force

Dear Sirs:

I have been reading the True Story magazine for a long time and I just can't keep still any longer. I am a married woman with five children of which one girl and one boy are grown and I find many people who still think they should not know the truth about life as they are to find it.

I am sure it is better for the youngsters to secure their information early in life than it is to wait until it comes to them through some experience that may wreck their lives. I have my girl and boy read True Story every month. I feel it a help to them and I feel that it is a help to all young people in pointing out the message that living contrary to the laws of God and Nature means that untold misery will follow.

I am more and more convinced that True Story is the great need of the day. If our young people can be induced to read True Story it will save many of the young boys and girls.

Respectfully,

The True Story Magazine.

Dear Sirs:

There are many good lessons for all who read the magazine. Mothers, fathers, sons and daughters should read it, especially the daughters. Every mother should encourage her daughter to do so. My little girl will read it as soon as she is able to understand its meaning, for I believe young folks should learn the truth before it is too late.

I come from a poor family of many children. My mother was a good woman, but she was ashamed to tell the truth about life to her own daughters. Still there are seven girls and we all came out well because we all read True Story Magazine.

I wish you great success and hope you continue carrying on the good work.

Yours Truly,

Mrs. Mary Muehl,
Chicago, Ill.

"When Souls Are Tried"—Pathos and joy were strangely interwoven in the dramatic life of Coral! A good girl with a bad name, she was kicked into the streets for an offense that was not hers—to suddenly find herself snatched from the maelstrom of life by a man who seemed to see the Truth beneath her tawdry finery and her tear-stained rouge.

"The Widow In White"—A heart-gripping sequence of events that have their beginning in a deathbed promise—in which love, mystery, renunciation and suffering are woven together in a startling pattern that is possible only in Life itself.

"Neglected Wives"—The astounding revelation of a neglected

"Ties That Bind"—Phyllida possessed one of those rare souls that seemed to harbor all that was beautiful and lovable in life. In every sense she was sweet, tender and true. Imagine, then, what an ironic and cruel twist in the drama of destiny it was that caused her to help—actually help a cold, heartless, beautiful woman of the world to win the one man whom Phyllida loved and who loved her—because she felt what she was doing was noble, just and right!

wife that will sound a solemn warning in the heart of every woman and girl, whether she is married or not.

"When a Man Forgives"—The problem of the husband who, blinded by selfish interests of his own, is suddenly compelled to decide whether he can forgive his wife's one transgression—and still keep his honor whole.

THE SEASON

Kling Jockey Club to Dispose of 500 Memberships

Lyman T. Hay, president of the Fairmount Jockey Club, has announced that the club has under consideration a plan to increase its membership to 500. It is understood that the fee will be $100 each and that the fee will entitle a member to the privilege of the new clubhouse as well as admission to the grounds for himself and wife for both spring and fall meetings.

The new clubhouse probably will be ready for the spring meeting, it is said.

The exodus of horses, owners, trainers, jockeys and members of the personnel which assisted in the management of Fairmount, continued yesterday and today. The majority of owners and stables are going to New Orleans for the Jefferson Park meeting which opens Jan. 1. Thanksgiving day and the Park Grounds track which opens Jan. 1, is now being shipped to Tia Juana, Mexico. In this number is Jockey Vernon Wallis and Owner George Pruett.

Jockey Lloyd Gering, who led riders in the number of winning mounts for the meeting, is on his way to Havana, where there will be the usual winter meeting, starting about Dec. 12.

Stewards T. C. McDowell and C. Bradley departed Saturday evening for Kentucky. They will officiate at the Lexington track.

Starter William Snyder will probably be associated with one of the new Florida tracks but he has not definitely closed.

COLLEGE LACROSSE LEAGUE REORGANIZED

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse League has been reorganized under the new name of the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association, wider in scope and more liberal in its views.

Announcement was made that international lacrosse matches between college teams are to be resumed next year. A combined Oxford-Cambridge team will come to this country for a series of matches starting with the University of Maryland on April 2.

DUNN SCORES 3 GOALS AS MILLERS DEFEAT VESPERS, 4 TO 0

Speedy Attack Finds Holes in Vesper Defense

Combat Narrowly Averted After Hand Trips E. Dunn.

AMERICANS WIN, 1 TO 0.

Millers Show Flashes of Combination Play, but Fail to Score.

By Dent McKimming.

Fast moving forward line in the first 21 minutes of the game, a tight, vigorous defense and a general air of self confidence combined to make the Ben Miller team far superior to the Vesper team in their game at St. Louis University Field yesterday.

The Vesper weaknesses the Vesper team were taken swift advantage of by the Miller team who scored four goals in the first 21 minutes of the game, and then successfully defended their own goal, winning, 4 to 0.

The Miller team, with Manager Brenzel at center forward, scored Tate Brady's Wellston goal, 1 to 0, in the second game, a comparatively crude affair. About 100 persons watched the double-header.

Dunn scored three times and younger brother "Ebbie" scored once in the rout of the Vesper team. Every goal was the culmination of a remarkable fast bit of passing. Every shot was to the corner of the Vesper goal, leaving La Barge no chance to intercept. Mulroy, at left, was not credited with a goal, but he was very instrumental in the scoring. George Bolger was also prominent in the attack. Benny Nash, the left, played clever football throughout, but he was not as vigorous as the others.

The Method in Vesper's Work.

Every appeared to be no method in the play of the Vesper team. They tried to perform his part as he could, but there was a useless task of trying to overtake flying opponents who seemed to be in possession of the ball. The Vesper team was composed of the Vesper left, showed some flashes of brilliant footwork, but there was nothing in the movements of the others. Miller backfield seemed always able to quickly diagnose every Vesper plan and thus anticipate passes. When Tracy, the center forward, received a pass anywhere near the Miller goal line he was the object of a smothering movement which forced him to hurry too fast to permit of good results. He had few scoring opportunities.

On a previous Sunday the influence of rough play by the Vespers reduced the Bricklayers of Chicago to a helpless state and enabled the Vespers to win, although outplayed. Rough tactics, when employed yesterday, failed to gain any advantage. Fullback Hand, beaten by E. Dunn, deliberately tripped the Ben Miller player. A foul was called and a free kick was awarded, but it appeared for a moment that the game would end in a riot when the Ben Miller team threatened Hand for his rough work. Later, in the first period, when Referee Murphy awarded the Millers a corner kick, he was jostled by Goalkeeper La Barge, who protested the decision and the player was ejected from the game. Halfback Ed Crook of the Millers resorted to roughness which often appeared to be foul play.

Brenzel Scores Only Goal.

In the second game Brenzel scored the one and only goal, after

Cleveland and Soldan to Play For School Title

Yeatman and Central to Meet in Other Game of Double-Header Saturday.

Yeatman will play Central in the first and Cleveland will oppose Soldan in the second game of the high school double-header, Saturday.

It was unfortunate for Cleveland that the game Saturday was postponed, for the Carondelet eleven had excellent chances of winning easily over the crippled Roosevelt squad. The game probably will be played Saturday, Nov. 21.

Cleveland must down Soldan this week, Roosevelt the next, and Central Thanksgiving, to repeat as champions. If Soldan defeats Cleveland, only Yeatman and Roosevelt will remain to block Soldan's path to the championship.

Central rules a slight favorite over Yeatman, on a basis of previous scores. Roosevelt and Yeatman battled to a scoreless tie, whereas Central defeated Roosevelt 13 to 6. If the Roosevelt field is soggy, Central's weight will have a telling advantage. If, on the other hand, the field is fast, Yeatman's speed will more than make up for its lack of weight.

Diel had deflected a terrific shot from Pastor. The latter player appeared to excellent advantage for a first-year man. There was considerable crude play throughout the game. Halfback Sprintz of the Vespers to intercept. Mulroy, at left, was not credited with a goal, but he was very instrumental in the scoring. George Bolger was also prominent in the attack. No Powder Puff Boxing When Adams Meets Rojas at Odeon Worshippers at the Shrine of Swat Can Hold a Prayer Meeting Next Wednesday Evening — Mann Dugan on the Card.

The worshippers of swat who walked out on the scientific boxing exhibition displayed by clever lightweights at the New Coliseum a few nights ago, may find their desire for heavy hitting satisfied in the meeting of Quentin Romero Rojas of Chile and Sergeant Jack Adams of Scott Field at the Odeon next Wednesday evening.

While each of the principals is something more than a mere slugger, neither has been accused of resorting to boxing to the exclusion of hitting. Sergeant Adams, recent conqueror of Fred Fulton, believes he is climbing the ladder to world fame and he sees in Romero a means of taking a step higher. Rojas has had a greater share of experience against top notchers. He owns victories over Charlie Weingart, Bob Roper, Farmer Lodge and other trial horses and was spoken of a year ago as one of the leading heavy-weight title contenders. Rojas is now engaged in an exhibition tour in the course of which he has met several local heavyweight idols, usually pushing them over without much trouble. Adams' followers believe the Sergeant will put a sudden halt to the triumphant tour.

Mann Dugan, who witnessed the pounding of Sailor Maley at the Coliseum early in the week, has been engaged to meet Bryant Porter in a semifinal bout. Three or four other bouts will be added to the card which is being arranged by James Solari and Harry Cook, managers of the Business Men's Athletic Association.

FOUR COUNTY LEAGUE GAMES THIS WEEK

Four County High League football games this Saturday will find all the members battling. The game sars are as follows: Kirkwood and Normandy at Normandy, Maplewood and Rittenour at Rittenour, University City and Webster at Webster, and Clayton and Wellston at Clayton.

The only game last week in the County League ended when University City walked off the Maplewood field after protesting a dropkick by MacClanahan, a Maplewood back. The matter will be referred to the County High School Athletic Board.

A victory for either Maplewood or University City would eliminate the other from the league race, as both teams had lost one game.

ANNA GRIDDERS BEAT CARBONDALE

Special to the Post-Dispatch. ANNA, Ill., Nov. 8.—Anna defeated Carbondale here yesterday in the feature game of the Southern Illinois Hard Road Football League, 7 to 6. Anna's touchdown came after a 60-yard run by Tweedy, and Capt. Thompson's kick scored the additional point. Carbondale scored its touchdown as the result of a series of forward passes.

An attempted try for the extra point following the touchdown was blocked by Philbrick and Wall. Referee, Mathels; umpire, Hamilton.

Chicago Team to Test Dartmouth's Power Saturday

Yale and Princeton to Meet in Annual Gridiron Classic at New Haven.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Dartmouth, only unbeaten and untied first-flight team of the East, today entered upon the last lap of a triumphant football march which will take a new aspirant for national honors to Chicago Saturday.

Still challenged for the Eastern title by Yale in spite of their overwhelming victory over a previously unbeaten Cornell eleven Saturday, the Harvard warriors will close one of their greatest campaigns in a game against Chicago which will be a medium of comparison in the disposition of national and Eastern championships.

The Harvard juggernaut crushed Harvard and Brown before it scattered the Cornell host. It boasts two of the foremost backs of the season in Lane and Oberlander. Lane, a fast runner, has scored so many points that he is in a good position to win individual honors for the season. Big "Suede" Oberlander towers over the heads of the East's backfield stars as a sensational long forward passer.

At New Haven this week end there will be a stirring grapple between Yale and Princeton—the annual meeting of a powerful Bulldog, which has been growing more dangerous as the season progressed, and a Tiger whose claws were sharpened to razor edge on Harvard Saturday.

Yale was barely beaten by Penn a few weeks ago, but came back with a sensational victory over the Army. If Yale beats the Tiger and Harvard, Yale men probably won't admit Dartmouth's superiority.

Harvard seems likely to end its season with two more defeats, meeting Brown next Saturday and Yale a week later.

Many Teams Tumble.

Cornell was only one of six eleven to be toppled Saturday from the list of unbeaten teams. Holy Cross, Washington and Jefferson, Boston College, Springfield and Dickinson finished on the short end of the scoring for the first time this year, with Syracuse the only remaining major Eastern aggregation not scored upon hitherto, was tied by Ohio Wesleyan, 3-3.

Colgate, undefeated but tied in one game, faces Syracuse next Saturday.

Rabbit Maranville Goes to Brooklyn For Waiver Price

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—ALBERT J. (RABBIT) MARANVILLE, veteran Chicago shortstop and manager of the Cubs for a time last season, has been obtained by Brooklyn for the waiver price of $1000.

The Brooklyn club announced today it also had obtained William Marriot, third baseman, by the same route from the Boston Nationals.

Tribute Paid to Jockey Duncan

Rider Who Lost His Life in Fairmount Accident Praised by Starter.

"Duncan was the best boy riding at Fairmount when it came to handling a bad actor."

Starter William Snyder, whose task it was to send the horses away from the barrier in good order, yesterday paid this tribute to the jockey who died at St. Mary's Hospital Saturday night as a result of injuries received in a fall at the track on Oct. 23. It was the highest tribute the starter could pay a rider.

"When Duncan had the mount on a horse that gave trouble at the post, we knew that the horse would be well taken care of without the aid of an assistant starter. The boy knew how to control a horse at the post as well as any other rider I know," Snyder added.

When the news of Duncan's death reached them, Saturday evening, the board of directors of the Fairmount Jockey Club and their guests at a dinner at Hotel Jefferson stood for a few seconds with bowed heads as a mark of respect to the rider who had lost his life in giving his best efforts toward making the inaugural meeting a success.

The body will be shipped today to the Duncan family home at Locust Grove, Ok., accompanied by Grover's father, Charles Duncan.

Pennsylvania steels its defense against an advance from Pittsburgh.

Penn. State, once more proving itself an excellent defensive team by holding Notre Dame to a scoreless tie, gave thought this week to a better offensive for the West Virginia game Saturday, while W. and J. hopes to retrieve its unexpected Pittsburgh setback by a mid-West triumph over Detroit.

American Soccer Eleven Crushes Canadian Rivals

Picked Team Wins International Football Game by a 6 to 1 Score.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The United States soccer football eleven overwhelmed the representatives of the Canadian Football Association by 6 goals to 1 in their international match here yesterday.

The match was played at Ebbets Field, in a downpour of rain, before 6000 spectators.

Despite the treacherous condition of the playing field, both clubs displayed an unusually clever brand of soccer, but the deadly feet of Archie Stark and Davey Brown proved the undoing of the team from the dominion.

Canada kicked off, but the leather was soon returned by the Yankees and, after 17 minutes, Millar crossed to Stark. But the center, observing Brown in a better scoring position, allowed the leather to pass between his legs and Brown sent the ball whizzing into the net for the opening goal.

Burness equalized for the Canadians 14 minutes later from a scrimmage after Faulkner had sent the leather to the front of the United States net from the corner flag.

U. S. Overwhelms Team.

Ten seconds after the restart, Stark put the Yankee aggregation in the lead and repeated the feat 11 minutes later.

Soon after this Brown contributed his second tally with a terrific shot, after Stark had hit the crossbar and the ball rebounded.

Archie Stark netted two more just before the final whistle.

Lineup: United States: Goal, Halliwell; Rightback, F. B. Smith; Leftback, W. J. Brown; Center, C. H. R. Cartwright; Right half, H. B. Miller; Left half, D. J. Brown; Striker, A. J. Stark; Fullback, J. D. Brown; Goalkeeper, J. D. Brown.

Canada: Goal, J. D. Brown; Rightback, J. D. Brown; Leftback, J. D. Brown; Center, J. D. Brown; Right half, J. D. Brown; Left half, J. D. Brown; Striker, J. D. Brown; Fullback, J. D. Brown; Goalkeeper, J. D. Brown.

Scores at half time—United States 1, Canada 1. Goals scored for United States—Stark 4, Brown 2.

When tobaccos are good enough to speak for themselves —let them say it!

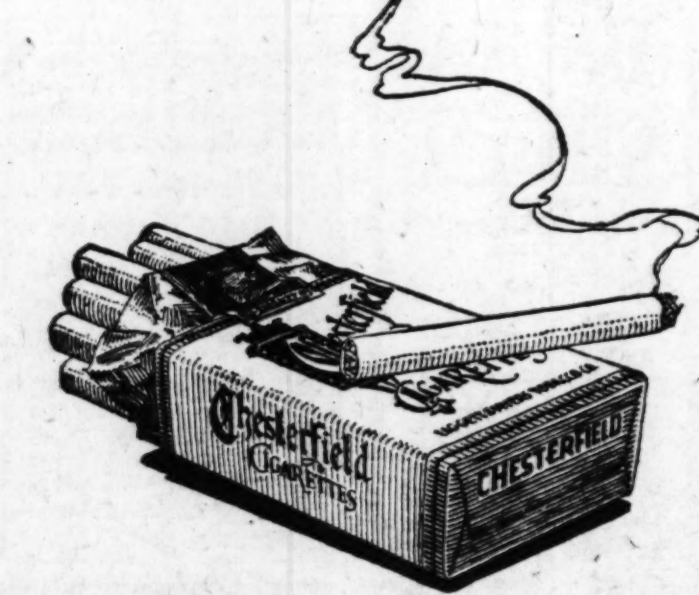

THAT'S the one way to give men what they want in a cigarette—natural tobacco taste. Each type of tobacco should contribute—one its spicy tang, one its rich aroma, one its mellow "body," one its mild sweetness; and if the quality is right and the blend is right, that's all there is to it.

Sounds easy!

But to create a blend that combines fullness with mildness; that removes heaviness while retaining "character"; that makes a cigarette that is smooth and mild yet "satisfying"—to do all this is not easy, far from it.

It is so difficult, in fact, that millions of smokers sincerely believe it has been achieved in only one blend in the world.

This blend—and they swear by it—belongs to Chesterfield. It embodies the finest of Turkish and American tobaccos—and it can't be copied.

Three Records Broken in Eight Days . . .

IT requires no better indication of the trend of advertising in New York than the three records noted above.

That these "peaks" were recorded within eight days by three papers under one direction constitutes a record in advertising that establishes once and for all the virility, the productiveness and effectiveness of THE WORLD and THE EVENING WORLD in serving those advertisers facing the problem of covering the New York market.

These three papers have a combined circulation of 1,162,000 copies. About 80% of this, or approximately 900,000 copies, is distributed in greater New York, within immediate reach of the retail establishments of the city.

It is natural, therefore, that many of the most successful local merchants think first of THE WORLD and THE EVENING WORLD when the question of advertising arises.

The importance of this to the national advertiser is obvious. It is through these very local stores that he secures his best distribution and his greatest volume of sales.

The service represented by these papers constitutes one of the indispensable units of New York advertising. In other words, it is a business fallacy to depend upon covering New York adequately without using WORLD SERVICE.

As factors in effecting distribution in this market, THE WORLD and THE EVENING WORLD have long exerted an influence among retailers distinctively their own, as evidenced by the result of a survey which indicated that 65% of New York retailers in all lines of business were readers of one or both of these papers.

There are many equally as sound reasons for the marked trend of advertising toward the papers comprising THE WORLD GROUP.

The Darling of Destiny

by MILDRED BARBOUR

CHAPTER I.

FROM a social standpoint, Sundial Cottage was located on the wrong side of Long Island. No one realized this more poignantly than Mrs. Blanchard. Because women are mistresses of the art of making a brave front, she told everybody that the family preferred the secluded side of the island.

"The dear Colonel's health does not permit us to take part in many social activities," she was wont to explain, "so, you see, it is quite foolish to live in the real playground of wealth and fashion."

Sundial Cottage was approached from one of the shady little-travelled by-roads; its pleasant, not well-tended gardens stretched to the very roadside unprotected by the neat clipped hedges which surround the greater number of Long Island estates. The windows of its breakfast room looked out upon the gardens of a neighboring house which had the air of a place long unused to human occupancy. This place was the source of great distress to Mrs. Blanchard, who was always fearful that it would be purchased some day by "non-veau-riche." Sundial Cottage, she said, would consequently be made impossible.

When she descended to breakfast on a particular June morning, she was promptly thrown in a panic by nothing through the casements that workmen were busily engaged in removing the storm shutters from the place next door.

When the Colonel came in, she greeted him with a wail of despair, but he brushed aside her expostulations with a wave of his newspaper.

"Not until I have had my coffee, Theresa—please. Let me have a few minutes of peace, then we will talk about whatever is troubling you."

Mrs. Blanchard was small and plump and comfortable; she reminded one of a nice, soft, well-upholstered cushion. Her round little face with its several chins were the habitual look of a hurt baby.

Now, she set her small mouth determinedly and signaled the maid to bring in the coffee; it was one of her affectations to prepare the coffee herself at the table. She liked to tell people that a long residence in the Orient had made excellent coffee a fetish with herself and the Colonel. Wherever they traveled, she said, she carried with her her own percolator and a special brand of coffee.

As a matter of fact, the Colonel had once been stationed in the Philippines; but Mrs. Blanchard had not accompanied him there and the Colonel had followed the English tea drinking habit.

While the coffee bubbled cheerfully in the percolator, Mrs. Blanchard ran through the morning mail. She opened one letter deeply looked in black and uttered a long drawn "O-o-o-oh!"

The Colonel turned up from his grapefruit.

"James is dead!" his wife exclaimed.

The Colonel raised his brows. "And who, my dear, is James?"

"Don't be ridiculous!" snapped Mrs. Blanchard. "My brother James, of course."

"Oh, yes, James—good old James—rotten luck, what?"

His wife fumbled for her handkerchief.

"I think I'm—going to cry."

The Colonel looked mildly surprised.

"But, my dear, you haven't seen your estimable brother for 20 years."

"Don't be an unfeeling brute," quivered Mrs. Blanchard. "Just because you have no relatives of your own."

"For which I give daily and devout thanks," put in the Colonel.

Mrs. Blanchard touched her eyes with her handkerchief, sniffed delicately, and retrieved the black-bordered letter.

"Listen to this," she commanded. The Colonel raised a quick protesting hand.

"Here we read, Theresa: you know how I detest family letters."

"But you must hear this because it concerns you vitally."

"James didn't leave me anything, did he?" he inquired, hopefully.

Mrs. Blanchard pursed her small mouth and nodded mysteriously.

"He did—his daughter!"

"Good heavens!"

The Colonel's fork clattered distractedly in his plate.

"Theresa, you are joking! What can I do for his daughter? I have three more children than I can manage already."

"Listen," Mrs. Blanchard picked up the letter again. "It's from my sister, Angela," she explained, and began to read.

"My dear Theresa," the letter began. "I dare say you have already heard that our James had the good grace to die. What I cannot comprehend is how he had the courage to live so long after contracting that wretched alliance with the impossible Southern girl. I know nothing of his life for these past 20 years. . . . no more, I dare say, do you. But like all such family problems, something has to be done in the end. In this case, there happens to be a daughter of whom we know nothing. It seems that she is left almost penniless and quite alone except for some sort of negligible relative on her late mother's side, who claims to be an aunt and has written me the whole sad story. Said mother, it seems, died when the child was but a couple of years old. The child apparently has been raised in the Virginia backwoods and knows absolutely nothing; I dare say she goes barefoot and probably eats with her knife.

"If you are so keen about disciplining someone and saving the family from disgrace, why don't you pay a little attention to our sweet brother Roger?"

"Now, my dear Theresa, what are we going to do about this? Of course, we could leave the girl to the consequences of her parents' folly, but after all, there is our blood in her veins. I can't bring myself to be quite heartless. I must, however, be practical. Since you and I are the only two members of the family left, her fate rests with us. As you know, I am launching two daughters into society this autumn and I cannot afford to jeopardize their chances by taking on a little outcast."

"The point of this long and rambling letter is, therefore: Will you take her? You have every opportunity to keep her in the background until such a time as she is sufficiently trained to appear in public without disgracing us all."

Mrs. Blanchard laid down the letter. "There is a lot more but I dare say that's sufficient."

"Sufficient!" roared the Colonel. "It's too damned much! Do you mean to say that sister of yours has the nerve—the consummate nerve—to suggest that I take an orphan to raise, with the stock market in the state it is—and the high cost of living—and my health shot to pieces! And, moreover, I pondered the table with his fist, 'that worthless son of ours loafing around writing idiotic plays that won't sell and running after actresses.'"

At that moment he choked violently, and during the subsequent paroxysm Mrs. Blanchard sat back resignedly in her chair after the manner of one who has seen many a storm come and go and has never yet been damaged by the lightning.

When the Colonel emerged, purple faced, from the voluminous folds of his napkin, another member of the household had joined the breakfast table.

"Good morning, Mother . . . Dad," Joan Blanchard unfolded a napkin serenely and went about her breakfast with the calm and able poise of one who is quite accustomed to breakfast table storms.

Her cool gray eyes behind their fringed dark lashes were as calm and unruffled as the surface of a mountain lake. Her brown hair banded so neatly across her smooth brow, created the same impression of calm, untroubled orderliness; her voice was low and cool and sweet. Under the spell of her presence, the angry blood receded from the Colonel's forehead, and even Mrs. Blanchard relaxed in her chair.

"I just saw Josephine coming up the drive in her car," Joan remarked.

"Oh, Goeh!" growled the Colonel.

"Now we're in for more trouble. After Josephine visits us, a Kansas cyclone would be a welcome diversion."

"She is early, this morning," said Mrs. Blanchard apprehensively. "I dare say she has quarreled with Jack again."

"Some of these days, that poor boob husband of hers will develop the spirit of a mouse and leave her!" the Colonel prophesied gloomily; "then I will have another daughter disgrace to your family trailing around these infernal lounge libraries who make a business of flirting with idle, discontented married women. You have a splendid husband at home. If he can't make you behave, then I will! I thought my parental duty was done when I gave you over to him, but if you make it necessary, I'll discipline you like a child. That a daughter of mine should be such a fool!"

He pounded the table again with his fist and the angry blood crimsoned his forehead.

"Home, Sweet Home."

In answer to her father's trade, Josephine flung up her head. Her eyes sparkled dangerously and two red spots burned under her roused cheeks.

"Oh, will you, indeed? Well, let me tell you something. If you are so keen about disciplining someone and saving this family from disgrace, why don't you pay a little attention to our sweet brother, Roger? I dare say you know—everybody else in New York does—he is making nine different kinds of an idiot of himself over Corinne de Verne. The sentimental fool thinks he is in love with her and that she is an inspiration to him in his silly efforts at play writing. If you don't know what she is, you'll find out soon enough. She'll play Roger for a sucker as long as his money lasts, and then you'll have to buy him out of some kind of jam that will threaten worse disgrace for the family than anything I could ever do."

"Oh, Josephine!" Mrs. Blanchard found her handkerchief and pressed it despairingly to her eyes. "You can't mean that! Oh, this is too terrible! And just when we were beginning to be accepted by the select people. I won't believe it of my boy."

"Mother, don't be silly and dramatic; the situation isn't bad yet, because Roger is still an idealistic idiot, and he thinks this De Verne

"You and Jack haven't really been quarrelling again, have you?"

"Quarrelling!" Josephine made a little grimace. "If you want to call it that—yes—Jack rating me lower than low, and my telling him that I wish I had died before the day I ever met him."

"My dear, you and Jack are disgraced!" roared her mother.

"You aren't we!" agreed Josephine brightly. "The ideal young married couple—behold us! I wonder why it is that husbands feel they must constitutionally object to everything. If it isn't the grocery bills or the servants' wages, it's the new gown I ordered from Madame Francine. Jack says I look indecent in it, and now the latest is—"

"What have you been doing lately, Josephine?"

Josephine waved her cigarette absently.

"Oh, the usual things. There is such an infernal sameness about life, isn't there, especially if you are married?"

"You and Jack haven't really been quarrelling again, have you?"

she paused to inhale deeply from her cigarette—"the latest is that he has thrown a fit simply because I had tea in town yesterday with a perfectly fascinating chap I met at the Foster's house party last weekend."

The Colonel's fist crashed down on the table with a force that set the dishes jangling.

"This has got to stop," he thundered. "I won't have you making a fool of yourself and bringing disgrace to your family trailing around these infernal lounge libraries who make a business of flirting with idle, discontented married women. You have a splendid husband at home. If he can't make you behave, then I will! Danny Meadow Mouse.

Happy

FOR a week Danny Meadow Mouse lived in the strawstack in Brown's dooryard. It was a comfortable place for him, like them. Meanwhile he was trying to decide where to go to the winter. They had to go direct to Farmer Brown's but while they were staying in the strawstack Danny had a wonderful discovery. He found out exploring one day and when he came back the most excited Meadow Mouse that ever lived.

"Nanny!" he cried. "I know now where we are going to live!"

Now where we are going to live? I have found a most wonderful place. There is food enough to last us as long as we live. We will never again have to go to the strawstack for food."

Nanny looked doubtful. "You said the same thing that I said when I was a young mouse. I have found a most wonderful place. There is food enough to last us as long as we live. We will never again have to go to the strawstack for food."

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Candle Ends.

Small scraps of candles may be put together in a small cotton bag and brought out on ironing day to keep the irons from sticking.

On With the Coconut.

Shredded coconut will stay on the tops of little cakes if the tops are brushed with a little sugar syrup, or syrup from preserved fruit, and then dipped into the coconut. Shake off all that won't stick readily.

Epsom Salts.

Epsom salts is said to have the same effect against moths as camphor and naphthalene. It is a great protection against all sorts of house bugs and vermin if employed in closed spaces. On account of its rapid deterioration it is of little use when used openly.

Window Washing.

If in a hurry to wash windows do so with a chamomile skin wrung out of warm water to which a small amount of household ammonia has been added. Rub the windows well. Wring the chamomile quite dry and wipe off the glass. There will be no need of further drying and there will be no lint or streaks left behind.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Little Brown House.

LITTLE brown house, you have them, too, days of my joy and pain; days when the skies were a cloudless blue, days of the falling rain. Pleasure dwelt long in your kindly walls, lending its sunbright glow, dreaming Youth danced through your narrow halls. Little brown house, you know! There was a lover once, house of hope; ah, but he found you fair! Under your low roof a moss-grown slope Paradise blossomed there! Sorrow came in, as it must to all. Shadows came then to drift over your chambers and through your hall, shadows no sun could lift. Little brown house, may I never go long from your low roof-tree; rapture and sadness, brown house, you know all life has brought to me!

One thorn of experience is worth a whole wilderness of warning—Lowell.

A Rich Man's Idea of Becoming Well Off

He Maintains That by the Time a Person Reaches Forty Years He Should Have Enough.

By WINIFRED BLACK

HE Rich Man was disgusted. He told us about it the other day as we sat on the porch of the hotel and waited for news that dinner was ready. "No use trying to help a fool that can't help himself," said the Rich Man.

WINIFRED BLACK

"When a man gets to be 40 years old and has nothing in particular with his brain or with his body, he ought to have money enough to live comfortably. 'Now take this poor devil who was hurt up the road a few weeks ago.'"

"He lost his right arm and the railroad settled with him for $3500. 'My secretary was there when the adjuster from the railroad came with the check and the man took it and signed it with his left hand and passed it right over to another fellow who was waiting for it.'"

"What for, do you suppose? 'A home in the country for his wife and himself? A little place where he could keep chickens and a pig and raise his own vegetables and live in modest comfort the rest of his life?'"

"A little business somewhere in town, something that would bring him in a small income and keep him busy?"

"No. 'I'll tell you what it was he wanted—an automobile. 'And not a little one, mind you, not one for a small price, he wanted just one particular make—and the salesman was there waiting for that check—it was a secondhand 'big car' at that, but the salesman promised to deliver it the next day and that was that.'"

"Poor man, his dream had come true at last—his poor, little foolish dream—and all we could do was to laugh at him for having it. The Rich Man is 50 and the girl is just 17. She's poor and she's empty-headed and she's cold-hearted and she's marrying the Rich Man for his money—there isn't a doubt in the world of that. I wonder how hard the poor man who bought the automobile with the last dollar he had in the world would laugh if he knew what the Rich Man is planning to do with the rest of his life."

TO not keep silk articles wrapped in white paper. It is said that the chloride of lime used in bleaching the paper will impair the color of the silk.

To prevent the cream from dripping from the pitcher after pouring, rub a little butter over the mouth of the pitcher.

THE DATE TREE

By ERNEST SEEMAN

Nov. 9, 1849—76 years ago—1,000 European emigrants land in America. This was only an average day, however, as over 365,000 foreigners annually disembarked on our shores in those days of unrestricted immigration.

NOTES ABOUT WOMEN

Dr. Arline M. Beal, a graduate of the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania, has called for India to do medical missionary work.

Twenty per cent more women pretend spurious mental fatigue than men.

Wives under 10 years of age in India now number more than 2,000,000.

South African flappers paint their limbs and throat, as well as their faces.

PHILOSOPHICAL PHRASES

The afflictions to which we are accustomed do not disturb us.—Claudianus.

But genius must be born, and never can be taught.—Dryden.

Faith is a higher faculty than reason.—Bailey.

To God, thy country and thy friend be true.—Vaughan.

In the lexicon of youth, which Fate reserves for a bright manhood, there is not such word as FAIL.—Bulwer-Lytton.

What is beautiful is good, and who is good will soon also be beautiful.—Sappho.

All the great things of life are swiftly done.—Creation, death, and love the double gate.

However much we dawdle in the sun We have to hurry at the touch of Fate.—Masefield.

Delay is the greatest remedy for anger.—Seneca.

There can never be deep peace between two spirits, never mutual respect, until, in their dialogue, each stands for the whole world.—Emerson.

Hand Comfort.

The days of over tight gloves and shoes in past. Women nowadays realize that hands should be in proportion to height and weight and seek proportion rather than fineness. Many of the new hand coverings are of suede which fit snugly but not tightly and which have reversible cuffs which come smartly over the sleeve or are turned back over the wrist. These cuffs are embroidered on both sides in contrasting colors.

Were You Born Abroad?

Are you one of those magnificent Americans who have struggled through the handicaps of a new land and language to become happy and prosperous? Then listen. Today in St. Louis are other men and women—newcomers to America—who are battling the same up-hill road to success that you took. You know their troubles and difficulties. You'd like to make it easier for them—wouldn't you? But you don't know who they are. Well, the Community Fund does. Men and women from the International Institute are interpreting the United States, its language, and its institutions to these new citizens of St. Louis. The more you give to the Community Fund this year, the more help can be given. Help the other fellow up.

NICE PLACE. See where the news about the Eighteenth Amendment hasn't reached New Jersey yet. As New Jersey refuses to come in out of the rain it ought to be a good place to start an umbrella factory.

THE WAY THE VOTERS SCRATCHED WATERMAN IN NEW YORK WOULD INDICATE THAT THE PENCIL IS MIGHTIER THAN THE PEN. Jimmy Walker justified the hunch that his name implied by winning in a walk.

WE NOTE THAT THE K. K. K. GOT A QUICK KICK IN THE KIMONO IN THE recent election for Mayor in Detroit. See where the Republicans took a flyer in Boston Common the other day and elected a Mayor for the first time in 15 years.

"ASKS POLICE TO FIND OUT WHO HE Really Is." Can't he identify himself by his finger prints?

THE MAN ON THE SANDBOX SAYS IF the price of potatoes keeps on going up we'll have to eat 'em skins and all like they do in Cheranne.

QUITE SO. The French in Syria are enrolling Kurds to help knock the whey out of the rebels.

"PAYS $6 for Old Ford and Trouble Starts." Everything started but the Ford.

"STILLMAN WILL AGAIN FIGHT Divorce Suit." Once a headliner, always a headliner.

PICKING CHICKENS. In reply to a request for information the agricultural department informed an Oswego, Kan., man that it could not inform him how to put on a shirt, but it did have a bulletin on how to pick a chicken. The method of picking chickens we claim, is purely a matter of taste. Some like blondes and some prefer brunettes. Some like 'em bobbed and some like to see the crowning glory featured. Chicken fanciers have their likes and dislikes and there is really no standard of comparison.

AS FOR THE MOST APPROVED method of getting into a shirt the gent should specify whether night or day.

DISCOVERY OF NEW RAY, HAVING EXCESSIVE POWER, IS ANNOUNCED

Dr. Millikan Tells of Measuring Emanations Much More Powerful Than Those of Radium.

ONE 500-BILLIONTH OF INCH WAVE LENGTH

Investigations Made With Feather-Weight Instruments in Toy Balloon, Flown From Pike's Peak.

By WATSON DAVIS, Managing Editor Science Service.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 10.—The earth is being bombarded from all directions and at all times by rays more powerful, more penetrating, and of shorter wave length than even the X-rays and gamma rays from radium, until now the most penetrating radiations known to science.

This discovery of what might be called super X-rays was announced to the National Academy of Sciences, meeting at the University last night, by Dr. Robert Andrews Millikan, director of the Norman Bridge Laboratory of Physics of the California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, Cal., and winner of the Nobel prize for physics on account of his pioneer work in measuring the electron.

From out of space, born evidently in the great cosmic reaches of the universe, these newly discovered rays come to earth with a penetration at least a hundred times greater than the most penetrating X-rays that can be produced in hospitals. Whereas X-rays will not penetrate a half inch of metallic lead, it takes six feet of lead completely to absorb these cosmic rays which Dr. Millikan said are "harder and more penetrating than any which has before been imagined."

Hearing Millikan was like being present when the Curies announce the discovery of radium, Roentgen reported the first generation of X-rays or Hertz sent the first wireless waves.

Short Wave Lengths. For he has discovered a new realm of the spectrum. The idea of a series of other vibrations ranging from low frequencies of alternating electric current, passing through radio waves, heat, visible light, ultra violet light and finally reaching the short wave lengths of X-rays and gamma rays of radium is familiar. But far beyond these, approaching the abode of the infinitesimal, lies the region of the penetrating rays discovered by Dr. Millikan.

Experiments indicate that there is a region of frequencies as far above the X-ray frequencies, as are these latter above the frequencies of light waves," said Dr. Millikan. The wave length of the shortest of the "penetrating rays" as he calls them is to be one-fiftieth of that of the hardest gamma rays from radium heretofore known and but one ten-millionth that of ordinary light, and light has a wave length of about one fifty-thousandth of an inch, which so far as every-day measurements go seems nearly the limit of minuteness.

Whence come these powerful rays? Over five years of experiments, which took Dr. Millikan and his assistants to the top of Pike's Peak, caused them to investigate the upper atmosphere with feather-weight instruments lifted by small balloons, and carry on experiments 40 feet deep in a snowed lake under the brow of Mount Whitney proved conclusively that these penetrating rays do not originate on earth.

They are the result of transmutations of chemical elements taking place in the vast expanses of space.

Capture of Electron. Gamma rays are produced only by nuclear transformations with the atoms of radium and thorium. In other words, when elements disintegrate or are transmuted into other elements.

Reasoning from such well known facts, Dr. Millikan concluded that nuclear changes, that is transmutations of elements having an energy perhaps 50 times as great as the energy changes involved in known radio activity on earth, are taking place all through space. And the most probable sort of nuclear change is the capture of an electron by the positive nucleus of an atom. Thus the penetrating rays are signals of these cosmic transmutations sent to earth.

If the dream of the ages were so—
